Keep Away From Mellon. How Many This Fourth? 10% Call Money. Gang Efficiency.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

SECRETARY MELLON'S report shows the national debt has been reduced about one billion in the past year. Taxes were cut $220,000,000 and the Treasury surplus is about $398,000,000.

Democrats beginning a Presidential campaign with attacks on Mellon are not doing Gov. Smith any favor. The wise thing for Democrats would be to say as little about Mellon as possible, and concentrate on the Teapot Dome.

JULY FOURTH, tomorrow. How many will be killed? As a result of patriotism a year ago tomorrow, 14 died of lockjaw, caused in every case by blank cartridges.

Germs of lockjaw are on your hands. An exploding firecracker blows the germs into the flesh and they do the rest.

You might mention this to your little boy, and add that George Washington never had a firecracker in his life.

EXCITING money market yesterday. Call money went to 10 per cent. Banks called $75,000,000 in loans.

Money was needed for spending over the Fourth of July. Midyear interest and dividend payments call for a billion dollars.

AND, besides, the big fellows, seeking to discourage stock gambling, know that "the way to discourage vice is to make it expensive," hence the 10 per cent interest.

Even so, Wall Street operators seemed not discouraged.

SINCE last September, Europe has drawn $500,000,000 in gold from this country, reducing that mysterious thing called credit by 10 times the amount, or $5,000,000,000. Once upon a time this would have meant a money panic. The Federal Reserve fortunately prevents that.

IF gangsters' effeciency could be transferred to some other line of endeavor, they could become useful citizens. That happened in Venice, its swamps first inhabited by fleeing criminals, then built up to a great commercial republic.

EFFICIENT gangdom from Chicago moves to New York to show what it can do. Frank Uale, supposed to have helped kill a notorious Chicago gangster, was driving his Lincoln coupe along a quiet street in Brooklyn. Another car pulled alongside, filled Uale's head with slugs from a sawed-off shotgun. He crumpled up at the wheel.

BENJAMIN KANOWITZ retired from bootlegging entirely, so his wife says, went out to fix his car. Other gangsters, there ahead of him, had fixed it their way. When he put his foot on the electric starter a bomb connected with it exploded, blowing him to pieces. One of his legs was not found. Such is gang efficiency.

WILLIAM BULLUARDO tells his story to the police simply. He is 26, his wife was 18. All she wanted was "pleasure, pleasure, pleasure." And "she wanted to go to dances, but I don't dance."

When she got in the car and insisted that he take her to a pleasure park, says the husband, "I grabbed her by the throat and strangled her to death." He then tried to kill himself with a hammer and a knife, but failed.

FREMIET'S well-known statue of the gorilla, dragging a woman through the forest, would be more life-like if the gorilla were a man. Gorillas never kill their wives.

THE Mexican government provides soldiers to protect railroad tracks over which Dwight W. Morrow is returning to Mexico City. Mexico acts promptly with those that interfere with railroads. Nine men with dynamite, found near the track, were immediately marched out to a country road and shot.

MR. MORROW must wonder sometimes why he left the peaceful corner of Broad and Wall streets, New York, where dynamite explodes at most once in 50 years.

NAYLOR HARRISON, whose real Hungarian name is much longer, more difficult, died yesterday, at 85. Recognized as king of the Gypsies, he will be buried in Gypsy fashion. When the time came he told his kindred that he was going to die, turned on his side and died.

This is the land of opportunity even for gypsies. Naylor Harrison leaves $1,000,000.

BID MINERS TO STRIKE PARLEY

INDIANAPOLIS, July 3.—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today sent out a call for a meeting of the international executive board in Indianapolis on July 10 and a meeting of the policy committee on July 11.

"Both meetings are called for the purpose of reviewing the strike situation in the various bituminous coal fields and proposed legislation dealing with the bituminous coal industry will also be considered," reads the Lewis call.

The meeting of the policy committee had been requested by Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois district of the mine workers' union, where the miners are seeking the right to negotiate separate agreements with operators. It is expected that the Illinois miners will present their request to the two meetings here next week.

The policy committee is composed of representatives from each district organization of the United Mine Workers of America in the United States and Canada, members of the internatiol executive board

Leave Jail to Give Child Blood

Imprisoned Parents Win Plea to Save Daughter's Life.

To save the life of their two-year-old daughter Mary, a patient in the Children's Hospital, Joseph and Mary Byrd, of Third street, Braddock, serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail for drunkenness, will undergo a blood transfusion operation.

Judge Elder W. Marshall, of Quarter Sessions Court, today granted a petition for their release from jail for the operation. The plea was made by Attorney George F. Langfitt on behalf of Sue A. Richter, probation officer of the Juvenile Court. Attorney Langfitt said that the baby is desperately ill and that the only hope of saving her is a blood transfusion.

The Byrds have several children. They were committed to jail June 12 by Justice of the Peace George H. House, of Braddock, in default of a $25 fine.

Today they were taken to the hospital by Deputy Sheriffs George Newcomer, Frank Wallowick and D. N. Cheatham. As soon as the transfusion is completed they will be returned to jail.

Peace Near As Zionists Resume

Factional strife and tumult, which have marked the thirty-first annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America, today gave way to discussions of peace as the delegates assembled at the William Penn Hotel in what they hoped would be their closing session.

After two days of warfare all parties now endeavoring to work out a plan whereby they will work amicably for their ideal of rebuilding Palestine and establishing it as the Jewish homeland. If the schedule is carried out, the convention will adjourn tonight.

A victory yesterday by the administration forces paved the way for today's peace overtures.

By a vote of 398 to 159, the report of the administrative committee for Another Undergoes Transfusion Operation for Boy.

If 9-year-old Jack Coffroth, of 24 South Starr avenue, Bellevue, whose right arm was amputated at the Suburban General Hospital last Sunday, recovers, he will owe his life to Charles Hannan, of Florence avenue, Bellevue, a friend and business associate of his father, John K. Coffroth. Hannan gave a generous portion of his blood to the boy yesterday when physicians announced that nothing but transfusion offered any chance of saving his life.

Six persons offered their blood to little Jack—his father, his sisters, Betty and Katherine; a cousin, William Barnes; Patrick Cline, a business associate of Mr. Coffroth, and Mr. Hannan. The doctors chose Mr. Hannan as having blood most nearly like that of the child.

Jack was better today, but not yet out of danger. He fell out of a cherry tree last Thursday, sustained a broken arm, and blood poisoning set in.

THREE LEAP FROM ROADHOUSE, AFIRE

TRAPPED, WOMAN JUMPS

Two men and a woman leaped to safety from a second-story window early today when fire swept the Oakhurst Inn in Bethel road, near Library, and badly damaged a gasoline station and dwelling across the road. Damage was placed at $25,000.

Aroused by the crackling flames, George Buga, his wife and I. Kline, occupants of the roadhouse, found escape by stairways cut off. They barely had time to jump from windows. The building was destroyed.

The flames leaped across the roadway and ignited a gasoline station, above which are two dwellings. Mrs. Lucy McCarty, owner of the gasoline station, occupied one and E. H. Steinman and two sons, John and Richard, the other. All were forced to flee.

2 RACE BALLOONISTS CRASH ON MOUNTAIN

LYNCHBURG, Va., July 3.—(AP.)—Ferdinand Eimermacher, pilot, Germany, and Karl Zeech, aide, in charge of the German balloon Munster in the James Gordon Bennett international balloon contest, landed at 11 o'clock Sunday night in the top of a dead tree, high on the eastern slope of the Blue Ridge Mountains, about 20 miles from this city. They reached the home of Malcolm Griffin, two miles from the scene of their landing, yesterday afternoon, and this morning came to Lynchburg. Efforts will be made to recover the balloon tomorrow.

Eimermacher suffered a sprained ankle and a bruised arm and shoulder in a fall as he was descending from the basket. Zeech

STRAW VOTE ON AT FAIR

The first step in extending the presidential straw vote of The Sun-Telegraph outside Allegheny county was taken today when a voting machine was installed on the fairgrounds at Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, during the centennial celebration of that borough, the oldest in the county. The poll will be extended to other Western Pennsylvania counties.

The Sun-Telegraph is thus enabled to obtain a representative expression of the sentiment of all elements of the people on the chances of Hoover or Smith to enter the White House. The use of voting machines, permitting large numbers to vote simply and quickly, may in this way register a large cross-section of the population of Western Pennsylvania.

Persons attending the Mt. Pleasant centennial today, showing their interest in the colorful contest between Hoover and Smith, were drawn to The Sun-Telegraph vot-

Coolidge Will Be Worker in Hoover's Campaign

PROMISES TO HELP G. O. P. WIN

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 3.—(AP.)—President Coolidge has definitely assured Chairman Work of the National Republican Committee that he may be relied upon to participate to some extent in the forthcoming political campaign.

After a four-hour visit to the Summer White House yesterday, during which Dr. Work handed to Mr. Coolidge his resignaton as Secretary of the Interior, the Republican chairman announced that the Chief Executive's assurance, although definite, did not indicate how or when he would lend his aid to the Republican party. On his part, Dr. Work added, he had not ventured to suggest plans to Mr. Coolidge, being perfectly satisfied that the latter "would do everything he could."

OFFERS RESIGNATION

Dr. Work arrived in Superior yesterday. He was driven immediately to Cedar Island Lodge, whence he returned in the afternoon to catch the train back to Washington. On his return from the executive residence Dr. Work said that Mr. Coolidge had not accepted his resignation as yet, presumably waiting until he had decided upon his successor.

Chairman Work said the Republican nominee would not undertake any countrywide speaking tour, but that he would deliver some radio addresses.

The voting machines started their second week's operation in Pittsburgh yesterday, gathering a large expression of presidential preference. The liveliest sort of interest was manifested, hundreds of persons taking the straw vote seriously and with deep concern. Husbands and their wives, stenographers, matronly women with babes in arms, keen-looking business men and the unemployed, all found the voting machines interesting and worth consideration.

CHILDHOOD -:- Families Run to Five Generations -:- OLD AGE

FIVE GENERATIONS

SAME FAMILY

Five generations, think the Gertlers, are not frequently to be found in the same family. These Gertlers are James H., 24; his mother, Mrs. Susie H., 44, 6 Miami street; the great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Anne E. Swailes, 90; the great-grandmother, Mrs. Maria E. Kightlinger, 68, 35 Audley street; and Baby Virginia Mary, 4 months, who rules the whole family.

THE YEARS REST LIGHTLY!

A MATCH

But the Helmans, 908 Lysle street, North Side, 'see' the Gertlers on the question of five generations in one family. Those who bright about the 'tie score' are Mrs. Harry Helman, 36; Harvey Sanford, 3 months; Mrs. Harvey Sanford, 17; Mrs. H. P. Banatta, 55, Blairsville; and Mrs. James A. Roan, 79, Lock Haven. Now, it will take a family with six generations—or more—to win the prize.

BASE SHIP GETS OUT OF ICE JAM

OSLO, Norway, July 3.—(AP.)—The base ship Braganzo, with the Norwegian fliers, Capt. Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Leutzow Holm, arrived at Kings Bay from Northern Spitzbergen today and the airmen will immediately begin a search for Roald Amundsen and his five missing companions.

TO RESCUE MAROONED

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, July 3.—(AP.)—Conditions were improving today for the rescue of five members of the Italia crew and Lieut. Einar-Paal Lundborg from the ice near Foyn Island.

The temperature was falling and chances for the landing of small planes on the ice to take them off were increased.

The Russian ice breaker Krassin found progress toward the marooned men difficult. Large masses of ice hampered the ship's advance after it entered the channel between the Seven Islands and Scoresby Island, just north of North Cape, North East Land.

The ice breaker Braganza, which had been held in the ice off North Cape worked free and arrived at Kings Bay today. Lieut. Luetzow Holm and Capt Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, Norwegian fliers who have been operating from the vessel, will transfer their activities to the sealing ship Hobby and join in the hunt for Roald Amundson and his five companions.

Swedish fliers attempted to reach the marooned men yesterday, but were turned back by poor visibility.

BODY NOT FOUND

For a time it seemed that the fate of the Amundsen expedition had been learned when the Exchange Telegraph Company of London carried a report, purporting to be from Oslo, that the veteran explorer's body had been found in the sea off Norway. The rumor, however, was denied at Oslo.

It was feared today that if Amundsen and his companions did not meet death in a disaster of the sea or ice, they will now be hard put to it for provisions, since they only carried a two weeks' supply when they hopped off on June 18.

The Russian flier, Babushkin, was still numbered among the missing today. Nothing has been heard of him since he started from the Soviet ice-breaker Malígin on Friday for the castaways of the Italia.

The Maligan today was nearing Hope Island, the southeastern outpost of the Spitzbergen archipelago.

50,000 BOYS AND GIRLS ATTEND JUBILEE

Fifty thousand strong, the boys and girls of Pittsburgh and surrounding towns turned out today for The Sun-Telegraph Jubilee at National Amusement Park. Fair skies, warm sunshine and really the first day of the summer vacation combined to make it one of the greatest holidays ever enjoyed by The Sun-Telegraph's little guests.

Early in the morning, throngs of children and their parents, or big brothers and sisters, lined all the roads leading to the park and with their lunch baskets surged into the grounds and began their day of merriment. Several thousand were on the grounds shortly after 9 a. m., and crowded about the Jubilee Manager to tell him how grateful they were for their tickets and the preparations The Sun-Telegraph had made for a day outdoors with everything free.

At noon the park was crowded and others were coming by thousands. Hundreds of automobiles were parked in the grounds and along the Freeport road. Every street car brought its quota and stout lads hiked all the way from the city, acquiring a rich coat of tan and a good appetite for their picnic lunch.

Everyone was in a good humor and the grownup folks turned in with spirit to make the children happy. There was some new amusement for every minute of the day. Ponies pranced up and down the little rodeo ring and had hundreds of riders. The Ferris wheel was filled with passengers as its cars were lifted high into the air and dropped down again. The merry-go-round, the airplane swings, the dogem, the scrambler, the boats that shoot the rapids and all those other curious things were busy giving thrills to thousands of young adventurers.

And at noon the "Cream of the Valley" was served. That was the time. Truckloads and truckloads of Reinhold's French vanilla bars were brought to the park and every boy and girl—and big folks, too—were served with this delicious ice cream. There was a whole platform full of people assisting and the children waited not a single minute while all the good things were passed out.

Every effort was made to safeguard the children. Experienced workers were there and they knew just what to do to prevent mishaps among so many boys and girls. Special policemen guarded the roads and drives and Boy Scout troops from Blawnox and Aspinwall were on hand to direct the crowds, and right well they did their work. Dr. Charles W. G. Schaefer and two trained nurses, Miss Mildred Erhard and Miss Ruth Lubner, from the staff of the Allegheny General hospital, were on hand to minister to any possible sufferers from illness or injury.

The jubilee continues until 6 p. m. At that hour the little visitors will turn their steps homeward, happier and prepared for their celebration tomorrow of the Glorious Fourth of July. They go to their homes with the best wishes of The Sun-Telegraph for another glorious holiday and happy vacation all summer long.

Nearly 5,000 of The Sun-Telegraph newsboys and carriers attended the jubilee. These boys went as the guests of The Sun-Telegraph and the news agents and dealers who supplied the tickets. John Coffey, North Side agent, took 2,000 boys in automobiles and provided for their entertainment at the park.

Peace Near As Zionists Resume

1927-28 was approved at yesterday's session.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue, New York City, storm center in the riotous scenes at the opening of the convention, held his place in the limelight again last night when he alluded in glowing praise to the work of Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist organization.

Dr. Wise's remarks aroused a stormy ovation from the delegates, who leaped to their feet and with one accord broke from cheers into "Hatikvah," the Zionist national song. The demonstration continued nearly 15 minutes and ended only when many of the singers sank down in exhaustion. While the points of difference between the opposing factions seemed to be as keen as ever, those familiar with the Zionist cause declared that the cheers for Lipsky mingled with the Zion song seemed to forecast a peace feast in the offing.

DEFENDS HADASSAH

Debates on the adoption of the report of the administrative committee consumed the long afternoon session. Mrs. Robert Szold, of New York, a vice president of the Hadassah women's organization and a leader of the opposition, opened the discussion and spoke of the strained relations between the two organizations of Zionists. She declared that there was no reason why one could not be a loyal member of Hadassah and still be loyal to the Zionist Organization of America.

The principal reply was made by Dr. Maurice Samuel, of New York, noted author and publicist, who asserted that the opposition is aiming to undermine the work of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World's Zionist Organization, and his policies, and to "smash" the Jewish Agency, the latter being a plan whereby Zionists and non-Zionists will be united for the upbuilding of Palestine.

AGAINST WISE'S ELECTION

Speaking of Dr. Wise's opposition to the Jewish Agency, the speaker said:

"We have in our midst men of honor and one man not only of honor, but of the highest distinction in Zionist service, and he does not believe in the Jewish Agency. It would not be well for us—though we love and honor that distinguished Zionist—to place him in a position where he will be entitled to attack Dr. Weizmann."

Discussing the controversy and directing himself to questions raised by the opposition, Abraham Goldberg, prominent New York Jewish publicist and orator, deplored the fact that the opponents had seen fit to air their attacks at a time when the Jewish Agency was about to be consummated, when new reinforcements would be brought into the task of rebuilding Palestine. Referring to the efforts to put Louis Lipsky out of office, he said:

"The opposition does not want fair play. They show that by asking us to be disloyal to the man with whose blood we have built the Zionist movement. The Jewish people throughout the world want to see the Zionists loyal to their own leader."

This remark and a subsequent one by Mr. Goldberg that the opposition is attempting to "break" Mr. Lipsky, brought forth sustained applause from the delegates.

In a speech prefaced by the remark that no one had ever "dreamed" of impugning the personal integrity of Mr. Lipsky, Abraham Tulin, of New York, a leader of the opposition forces, dissected the report recently made by the board of judges on the affairs of the Zionist organization and urged that the findings be accepted by the delegates.

SHOWS WORK DONE

The case for the administration in the debate on the motion to accept the report of the administrative committee was concluded by Morris Rothenberg, vice president of the organization, who reviewed the activities of the present officers, who, he said, should be judged by the work they had accomplished during the past year. It was brought out that $15,000,000 had been raised for the upbuilding of Palestine.

In his remarks which terminated in the ovation to Mr. Lipsky and the singing of the Zionist anthem, Dr. Wise said:

"From my point of view, and it may be from the point of view of a crass and incurable democracy, I know nothing to which there can be greater objection than the recommendation that no officer or member of any committee of the Zionist Organization shall receive any pay or other emolument for any service rendered to the cause. I am tired of this undemocratic attitude which I believe arrogant. I am not paid to work; I am not paid to serve; I receive an honorarium from my congregation in order that I may devote my life and tire my strength in giving such gifts as I have to the service of my congregation, the Jewish community and world Israel. It isn't fair to speak of a man as being paid to work when we pay not that they may work, but that they may be free to do their work without concern and interruption by other pursuits.

Dr. Wise said, however, that Mr. Lipsky is "no administrator," and "it is a tragedy of Jewish life that because a man stands out as a writer, he must be made an administrator. No man ought to be charged, single-handed, with the administrative leadership of the Zionist Organization of America."

Pointing to the service rendered to the Zionist cause by Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist Organization of America, Dr. Wise said:

"There is no taint ascribed to Lipsky. No one believed it. No one charged it and if this body had the generosity to ask that great American and great Jew, Judge Mack, to speak, he would have been the first to say that the Zionist Organization of America owes gratitude, irrevocable gratitude and appreciation and honor to Lipsky for a quarter of a century of service or more."

BOROUGH'S WATER RATES DOUBLED

Coraopolis borough's water tax was almost doubled last night at a meeting of Council. It is the second tax increase in the borough within a month, Council having boosted the borough millage from 10 to 14 mills two weeks ago.

The millage increase was over the veto of Burgess Fritz C. Gangloff. Councilmen said that the increase was necessary through the loss of the yearly revenue through the sale of the borough light plant a year ago to the Duquesne Light Company. It is understood that the water raise is made for the same reason.

PLUNGE KILLS 2

NEWPORT, R. I., July 3.—(AP.)—Two lieutenant commanders are dead as a result of a plunge by a naval seaplane into the harbor here from a height of 1,000 feet.

Lieut. Com. Thalbert Nelson Alford of the U. S. S. Wright, the pilot, who was strapped to his seat, died almost instantly when the craft struck the water yesterday.

Lieut. Com. William Butler, Jr., of the Gould Island air station, rescued from the harbor by naval craft, died at the Government Hospital.

The plane had executed three loops and was about to start a fourth when it went into a tail spin, from which Alford was unable to right it. The plane, a Corsair pursuit machine, belonged to the U. S. HOOVER BURIES DRY ISSUE

G. O. P. WILL STRESS OTHER QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(AP.)—There are indications that Secretary Hoover intends to stress other issues than prohibition in the early days of his presidential campaign.

At his headquarters here, occasion has been taken to deplore the placing of any emphasis upon the wet-dry question at this time and predictions have been made that the nominee, though declaring for strict enforcement, will not at any early date specifically oppose the stand of Gov. Smith for fundamental changes in the prohibition laws.

Whatever Secretary Hoover may say on this subject in his speech accepting the nomination has not yet been put into words, his friends say, and will not be for many days. His duties as head of the commerce department has drawn his attention temporarily from the preparation of his acceptance address. The department's budget for the fiscal year 1929-1930 has taken its place and in consequence interviews with departmental officials have displaced extended political conferences.

However, Carmi Thompson, who led the fight against Hoover in the Ohio primaries, dropped in yesterday to pledge his support and predict that the commerce secretary would carry his state in the November election.

Some uncertainty as to the time Mr. Hoover will leave the capital to present his resignation to President Coolidge and receive formal notification of his nomination has arisen and the task of making arrangements for the trip has been temporarily postponed.

2 BALLOONISTS CRASH ON MT.

made the descent to the ground by ropes, but Eimermacher, thinking he was at the ground, dropped in the darkness.

The balloonists said they ascended to a height of 15,000 feet during a terrific windstorm and were dashed down on the side of the mountains. They were certain that they could have sailed until some time Monday but for the violent storm they encountered.

A rough estimate would make their distance about 415 miles from Detroit.

BELIEVED MUNSTER

DETROIT, July 3.—(AP.)—A balloon reported stranded on a mountain slope near Big Island, Va., was believed today by officials of the James Gordon Bennett international race to be the German bag Munster, the only unreported balloon of the 12 starting in the race from Detroit Saturday afternoon.

If the balloon is the Munster, unofficial tabulations here of air line distances covered by the bags would give the race to the French bag Blanchard, which landed at 11 a. m. yesterday in a mill pond at Walnut Cove, N. C.

Karl Betts, scorer for the race, said today, however, that official tabulations by the National Aeronautical Association at Washington, D. C., would be awaited to determine the winner because of bunched landings of three of the contenders.

Unofficial scoring shows that the Blanchard covered only 15 miles more, airline distance, than did the U. S. Army balloon, which landed at Kenbridge, Va., and that the Army bag traveled only 20 miles farther on an airline than did the German bag Barmen, which came down at Chase City, Va.

14 Near Dance Mark

The seven remaining couples in the long distance waltz at Duquesne Garden probably will spend a safe, if not sane, Fourth. At 3 p. m. today they had shuffled 474 hours and at 10 o'clock tonight are scheduled to glide triumphantly past the universal record of 481 hours established in Madison Square Garden, New York. And thus will the boys and girls escape the dangers of firecrackers, come the dawn!

Two couples asked for their hats and coats at Stahl Gardens, Homestead, during the night, reducing the field to 16 couples, all of whom seem prepared to endure the seventh day of competition today. They had endured 164 hours at 3 p. m. Those who left that place were Alex Jenrad and Sara Kolsha, after 155 hours, and Joe Leahey and Edna Swartz, who shuffled for 147 hours.

Another marathon, in Olympia Gardens, Wilmerding, was 215 hours old today, and five couples were still interested.

In the McKeesport marathon at Olympia Park, 17½ couples, if you don't mind, remained, two couples having departed this morning. The fraction represents a young woman who carried on alone after her partner failed. At 3 p. m. this collecton had been going 39 hours.

ALL OVER AT GREENSBURG

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 3.—The dance marathon at Coliseum Rink is no more. Following a threat by Mayor Yont to revoke the license, the shuffle ended last night in its 370th hour, with five couples on the floor. The prize of $500 was divided among them.

Promoter R. C. Overdorf intended to cart the shufflers to Braddock, but all the dancers refused to go. The crowd was slim, numerically, when the end came.

ENVOY URGES CHINA RECOGNITION

By DR. C. C. WU.

DR. WU is the son of Dr. Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister to the United States. He was educated in the public schools of Washington and later attended the University of London. He left the United States in 1904 to become an active factor in the then growing progressive movement of the younger China. He is considered one of the ablest diplomats in Washington and is the personal representative here of the Nationalist government.

I have read the statement in the Hearst newspapers advocating that the United States should speedily recognize China's new government. It is clear, concise and puts the case for recognition in a nutshell.

I would emphasize two other points. First, the Nationalist government is not only the first to unify China after years of civil wars and division, but it also gives every sign of permanence and stability. We recall, four or five weeks ago, the prediction that prominent Nationalist leaders would fight among themselves for the spoils of Pekin. When that prediction did not come true, we heard a few days later a more confident prognostication that they would fall out over the capture of Pekin. That was also falsified. The Nationalist party and government are not only showing every sign of stability, but are, moreover, the only party and the only government which can give stability to China.

Secondly, the Nationalist government stands for democracy and liberalism. Many of its principles have been borrowed from America. Dr. Sun's famous three principles, which are the basis of the Nationalist program, can be reduced to that famous phrase of a great American, "Government of the people, by the people and for the people." Many of the Nationalist leaders have been trained in America or are imbued with American ideas of democracy. Thus America is, in a sense, morally responsible for the Nationalist revolution in China.

These two considerations give added force to the suggestion by the Hearst newspapers of early recognition.

There is something which the Chinese people desires and which is of even greater importance than formal recognition of its government. That is the scrapping of those inequal treaties which for 85 years have fettered China's liberty and obstructed her progress. The same considerations which urge the speedy recognition of the Nationalist government operate with even greater force for the speedy negotiation of new treaties that will restore China her rightful place as a free and equal member of the family of nations. The State Department, in an official statement of January last year, said that the American government was ready to enter into such negotiations as soon as there was a government of China or there were delegates who could represent China.

MINERS GET PARLEY BID

and the executive officers of the union.

The impression prevailed that the conferences of July 10 and 11 may be momentous in the union's history. The union, it is generally understood here, is faced with a crisis today through the internal strife brought about by what union leaders have termed the "Communist element." This element was said to be the motivating force behind the unauthorized "rump" conventions, unauthorized separate wage agreements and the formations of new unions which have ruptured the solidarity of the striking miners in recent months.

Most of the dissenters from the policy of the Lewis administration have masqueraded under the slogan of "Save the Union." This movement has been headed by Norman Hapgood and other dissenters.

The bituminous miners, estimated to number 300,000, went on a strike April 17 in an effort, according to union officials, to keep their wage scale at the so-called Jacksonville level of $7.50 a day. It was estimated today that about 40 per cent of these miners were working under the Jacksonville scale under agreements signed with individual operators in the various districts.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

THE radio, tonight and tomorrow, will contribute its share to making Independence Day safe and sane. Tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock the Sylvania Foresters will offer a group of songs of the different wars in which the United States has been engaged. KDKA will be in the hookup. The program will open with "Yankee Doodle," a song dating back to the Revolution, and this will be followed by the "Star Spangled Banner," written by Francis Scott Key during the War of 1812. The Mexican War will be represented by a song that was popular at that time. Two songs of the Civil War will appear in this program, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Dixie." "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," sung when the soldiers went off to Cuba in 1898, will represent the Spanish-American War. There will be World War songs also.

Over WCAE at 9 o'clock the same night the Ipana Troubadours will offer "Yankee Doodle" and the "American Patrol." Dance music will be on the program.

There will be other appropriate Independence Day programs on the air. In addition, many other outstanding presentations will be relayed through local stations from the key stations of the NBC and Columhbia broadcasting systems.

Tonight at 9 o'clock Nathaniel Shilkret, conductor of the Eveready hour orchestra, will lead a performance of his own composition, "Jeannine, My Dream of Lilac Time," and a complete reading of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." The Hall Johnson Singers will be heard also. This presentation is one of WCAE's network features.

Goldman's band, playing on the campus of the New York University at 8:30 o'clock tonight, will render a number of Beethoven's selections. This program, which will be heard over KDKA, will include dance numbers.

Another network feature for WCAE tonight will be the Voters' Service at 7 o'clock. William L. Chenery, editor-in-chief of Collier's Weekly, will review the events of the Democratic National Convention.

Emily Tries to Interest Kittens in Her Crowd, But Fails

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Emily Day and Kitten are daughters of a worker in the Rossiter factory. Both are prevented by poverty from mingling with the socially elect of the little town. Emily has made an ideal of Kent Rossiter. Mary Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," is devoted to her. Mrs. Frances Haiden, a wealthy interior decorator, takes an interest in her and tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. She gets a job with Mrs. Haiden. Her father dies and Rossiter offers help, which her mother declines. Kitten, Emily's sister, is going with a wild crowd and is running close to danger. Ted tries to show Kitten that wild parties don't pay. Every morning Emily finds roses on the doorknob from Kingdom Coles. Marty goes in Judge Morrow's office, Emily is jealous. Emily takes the job to decorate Mrs. Rossiter's house. Mrs. Haiden wants Emily to go into partnership with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THE quick fear Emily had known once before clutched her; she put a shaking hand on his arm: "What do you mean? Marty—"

"I mean that and nothing else but," he snapped. And walked out of the shop.

Emily kept an eye on the kid sister but saw nothing amiss. Kitten had grown quieter, perhaps, and rather more amiable but the air of secrecy she threw around herself was no greater than it always had been. She had learned to sew a little and she spent much time with her clothes, cleaning and pressing and making them over.

She had a natural knack for striking effects and by the mere placing of a buckle or the twisting of an end of velvet managed to give an exotic look to the simplest frocks.

Dottie still was held in the house; if she went out at all it always had to be with some member of the Brent family. Flossie Gaines had drifted to New York and into a beauty chorus.

So the trio of flappers was broken up, to Emily's relief. And Kitten didn't seem to care for rushing down to the ice cream shop now nor for going out in the afternoon.

Emily wondered about this. Thinking over what Marty had said she would plunge into a panic of worry, and finally, snatching her hat, hurry up the hill and come bursting into the house.

But her sister nearly always was there, curled up in the porch swing with a book or studying fashion plates.

Once at night when she was almost asleep she was seized with apprehension. Getting up quietly, she felt her way along the hall to Kitten's room. It appeared to be dark, but Emily caught the sound of movement and pushed open the door.

All in black velvet Kitten stood before the mirror, preening herself like some gorgeous tropical bird. The gown was a new one, fashioned in a slender, sooty sheath that revealed every graceful line of the small figure.

The red hair was brushed back and fluffed so it framed the beautiful face in a blaze of ringlets no less bizarre than the brightly painted lips. Great jet loops hung at the little ears.

"Why, Kitten!"

"Oh, for goodness' sake! Can't even try a dress on without your snooping. No crime to try a dress on is it?"

"But so late, dear." Emily saw then that the keyhole had been stopped and a blanket hung over the cracks of the door. "All yon need is the rope ladder," she added, smiling. "Why all the secrecy?"

Kitten gave her a sharp glance and turned sullen. "Have to be secret around here where no one ever lets you alone." She began to remove the earrings, watching her sister in the glass. "Seen enough, Em? Or did you come for the night?"

So little and so lovely she looked and so at variance with all the world. Emily's eyes filled: she stood there vaguely, touching the dusky velvet.

"Can't we be friends, Kitten-cat I don't want to hurt you. If only you'd love me a little!"

The younger girl hung her head—flung herself into her sister's arms, sobbing.

"I do love you, Emmy. Oh, I do! But things are so—so kind of awful. Living up here on The Hill—well, we don't stand much show, do we? That isn't fair, always to be out of things because we're poor.

"You've got Frances, but that doesn't help me. I want good times too. And you always act as if I'm a c-criminal—" A specially big sob with this.

Emily put her hands against the ringlets, snuggling the bright head as she had done when they were children.

"Dear little Kitten-kid. I hadn't any idea—but of course I used to feel that way. Harder for you; I always could pretend. I'll take you with me after this and you'll love Frances and her friends. And it doesn't make any difference really, whether we live on The Hill. It's what we are that counts. You'll see."

Later she wondered if she really believed this herself.

Kitten often went out with her after this. She never was the sensation in the salon at Great View that Emily had been. The younger girl, after all, was true to type—the new generation type. And she had no wish to pose as a good listener.

Kingdon Coles seemed to admire her at first, but he soon wearied of her arrogance. And of course Frances' friends seemed old to her and woefully unexciting.

It wasn't long before she began to refuse Emily's invitations, pleading this excuse or that for remaining away.

And soon the window and the kitchen roof and the grape trellis came back into her life.

Nicky would park his car on the dark corner a block up the street and wait till she could get out. Sometimes it was nearly midnight, but he always waited.

Once, after a long run down through Jersey, they rolled into Lyall early in the morning, boldly going through the River road, which should have been deserted.

But there had been a ball at the Yacht Club and guests were leaving; Nicky had to pick his way through traffic. He was held for a long moment directly under a light.

In her place beside him Kitten saw a woman staring from another car. Black eyes oddly a light, little white teeth jammed into a red lip.

"Look, Nicky. Who's that watching so?"

He glanced up and whispered "Damn!"

Kitten went cold. The woman, she knew, was Nicky's wife.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

AGNES finally consented, however, dolefully, to a sunroom on the house.

Emily's room was at the southeast corner and below its two front windows was the flat, broad roof of the veranda. By employing Frances' workmen and buying materials at cost, the room could be added at very little expense.

(To Be Continued Thursday.)

MISS M. ELLA MILLER SUMMONED BY DEATH

Miss M. Ella Miller, 64, died Monday at the home of her niece, Mrs. C. Earl Breece, at Elizabeth, N. J. She was born January 6, 1864, at McKeesport, the daughter of John A. and Margaret Penney Miller. Miss Miller was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Ingomar Woman's Club, the Friday Conversational Club, of Monongahela City, and the Presbyterian Church. She is survived by two brothers, James A. Miller, of Ingomar, and John Milton Miller, of Clairton.

SLAY SUSPECT SEEKS WRIT

Asserting he should have been tried for murder in the April term and not later than the June term of court, Aron Gillims petitioned Judge Elder W. Marshall, in Common Pleas Court, yesterday, for a writ of habeas corpus on Warden John McNeil, of the county jail, to show cause why he should not be set at liberty.

He argues that under the habeas corpus act it is required that a prisoner indicted for murder be placed on trial at the next term of court unless it is shown that necessary witnesses cannot be produced, and not later than the second term of court. He was arrested in December and indicted in February. Judge Marshall set July 10 for a hearing in the case.

"Cradle Snatchers," Farce, Supplies Audience in Pitt Evening of Much Merriment

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"CRADLE SNATCHERS," a farce by Russell G. Medcraft and Norma Mitchell, presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt last night in a manner that compared favorably with the play as produced here by a touring company, proved to be means of creating riotous merriment and thorough enjoyment for a good-sized audience. The players, especially augmented, caught the proper key for the farcical situations arising when three matrons, neglected by their spouses, engaged three young chaps to pay attention to them, in order to bring their flapper-fancying husbands to their senses, and the situation becomes more complicated than they bargained for when the men with roaming affections happened upon them unawares.

Mable Kroman was especially radiant as the vivacious Susan Martin, who drew as her portion of the trio of youth a supposed Spanish Don, which she deemed very appropriate since, as she expressed it, she was Spanish emotionally, anyway. It was Miss Kroman's play by all rights and she made firmer friends by the warmth and life she gave to a broadly farcical characterization.

In expanding the company to care for the numerous characters of the play, Mr. Sharp called in Pittsburgh talent, calling in Peggy Dougherty, Ruth Parrott, Brown Mehard, Irene Levine and Bebe Falvo. Miss Parrott gave a coolly practical balance to the part of Kitty Ladd, who lured her two married friends into the scheme when their husbands departed on an ostensible hunting trip. Alice Ann Baker's depiction of an elderly kitten was very funny. Miss Dougherty was charming as the young chaperone of the escapade.

The wandering husbands, who chose as their rendezvous for their flapper party the same house wherein their wives met their boys, were ably portrayed by Gus Forbes, Robert Fisk and Edwin Vail. George Baxter was a fiery imitation Spanish sheik and John W. Moore did an excellent bit of acting as a lad reluctant to enter into the scheme but clumsily tried to earn his money as the devoted admirer of Miss Baker. Charles S. Webster was capable as the third of the trio. Misses Mehard, Levine and Falvo were the three young girls who completed the turning of three triangles into as many quadrangles.

The play was excellently mounted.

SILLS, MISS KENYON ON STANLEY SCREEN

A long picture, "The Hawk's Nest," is the big end of the show at the Stanley this week. The stage presentation, called "Eight Bells," advertised with a Broadway cast, is good on account of its brevity. The screen attraction is a glorified detective story in which the camera outdoes the pen in every one of the dozen thrilling situations that develop in this romance of underworld life. The hidden doors, ghostly lights and weird shadows that go to make the approved detective narrative are used with extraordinary effect in this picture story. It offers a fine vehicle for Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon, and a large aggregation of Oriental character men who faithfully depict the roles of habitues of Chinatown. In the stage presentation are Elsie Gilbert, "blues" singer; George Tapps, comic; Oliviette, dancer and the comedy tumblers, the Lime Trio. Ted King acceptably fills the bill as master of ceremonies and the Jazz Beaus orchestra works energetically.

Doris Kenyon, leading woman of "The Hawk's Nest," photodrama attraction in the Stanley.

William Haines, star of "Telling the World," the Penn's film blend of romance and fun.

Gwen Lee has a part in "A Thief in the Dark," mystery photoplay feature shown in Davis.

PENN'S STAGE BILL AND PICTURE PLEASE

Hal Sherman, droll dancing comedian, shared honors with another dancing boy, Chester Fredericks, in the Penn. Both boys "stopped the show" yesterday afternoon in one of the best bills of many weeks. The Musical Johnsons, a xylophone act of two men, aided by the Allen Foster Girls, playing small xylophones, is an excellent feature. Rose Marie, operatic singer, proved that vaudeville and picture show audiences appreciate high-class selections in the reception they gave her "Una Voca Poca Fa." William Haines, with Anita Page, Harry K. Thaw's movie find, was a scream in "Telling the World," the feature photoplay of a bad boy who became a great newspaper man. It is a splendid picture, full of clean humor and thrills. "Our Flag," with Francis X. Bushman as George Washington, is an appealing color film. Teddy Joyce and his band featured Joyce's number, "You Need Me, I Need You."

JONES SPONSORS MOTHERS' OUTING

The fifth annual basket picnic and outing for mothers and children will be held, under the auspices of Johnny Jones, oldtime dance promoter, in Linden Grove, Castle Shannon, tomorrow. The committee in charge includes Mr. Jones, Gust Kant, Nick Rightweiser, Joseph Kaine, Leslie Jonese, William Jackson, Sam Harris and Ray Jones.

JUVENILES HIT IN HARRIS

A bright and sparkling bill of vaudeville opened a three-day engagement in the Harris yesterday. Among the amusing performers are the two juveniles, Bud and Marjie, who are the big attraction of Reid and company. They sing and step about in a lively manner. Bud is quite a comedian. Jones and Grant, Negro comedians, manage to keep the audience in a high state of humor for 12 or so minutes. Lorraine and Neil, young fellows, entertain with songs of sentiment and pep. They also do some impersonations—Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson being their inspiration. The boys also introduce another Al—in name only. This Al happens to be the Democratic presidential nominee and his mention brought an ovation at the opening performance. Another act that pleases is presented by the Hamel Sisters, two blondes and two brunets. Vocally and instrumentally they display harmony. Baker and Frye amuse in an act of giggles and nonsense. The feature photoplay is "The Little Yellow House." An "Our Gang" comedy, made here with Pittsburgh children in the cast, is an added screen feature. Last night they appeared on the stage.

MERRY FARCE AMUSES IN NIXON

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

A large audience found amusement in "The Nervous Wreck," an Owen Davis play that had its premier stock presentation here in the Nixon last night. It proved quite an hilarious occasion. Katherine Wilson and Harry Bannister displayed their craft capably in the leading roles. The other players, for the most part, were satisfactory although there were some rather boisterously ineffective moments.

The production is in three acts and a prologue. The opening episode introduces Mr. Bannister as Henry Williams, a nervous Easterner, who had a satchel full of pills and but three months to live—according to a physician who did a Horace Greeley and told him to "go west." We find "The Wreck" with a "girl of the Golden West." The maiden had sought refuge in Harry from a spur-clanking, chap-dangling sheriff, who wanted her for a wife. This nervous man, and the runaway girl, are discovered, as Curtain No. 1 goes up, as being stranded on a mountain road. A motor vehicle of the flivver species, also had developed a nervous, stubborn spell—due to the lack of gasoline.

After several moments of temperature and pill taking, an elaborate touring car rolled onto the scene. A few minutes later, nervous fingers clutching an unloaded pistol, robbed the more fortunate motorists of five gallons of gas. Then the nervous wreck, flivver and girl passed from view.

The following three acts were laid in and around a ranch house. The nervous man and runaway girl, through circumstances, found themselves installed as waiter and cook, respectively. And a lot happened in those three acts. The story of the gasoline holdup took enormous proportions. Again one met the held up motorists, and, in addition, the enraged sheriff and the girl's father. Guns were waved, dishes were smashed; Mr. Bannister straddled chairs and took more pills—and, eventually, the fellow who had but three months to live found himself cured and in love. Everybody went home happy.

KENNYWOOD PARK HAS WATER CIRCUS

GOOD-BYE BILL IN DAVIS

The final bill of the season in the Davis, which will close for the summer Saturday night, July 7, presented the usual combination of vaudeville and photoplays at the opening of the engagement yesterday. Featured on the stage, "Wagner's Side Show," preceded by the "big, free out-door exhibition," offered a number of real circus freaks, including a "wild man," albino, fat woman, giant, a couple of midgets, and an individual described as "half man, half woman," and a normal person who did a Russian dagger dance. The fat girl sang and danced and the midgets sang and played the saxophone. Comedy was supplied by Billy Inman, as the barker, Henry Regal and O. Henry. The latter pair gave a gymnastic demonstration also. The real fun of the bill was supplied by the pantomime comedy of Ed Pressler, eccentric pianist, whose teammate, Blanche Klaiss, sang with considerable zest. George McClennan's blackface comedy, clarinet playing and dancing met with much appreciation. The Palette Dancers, a group of girls performing as soloists and in ensembles, presented a pretty combination of beauty, grace, movement and color. The feature picture, "A Thief in the Dark," didn't cause even a ripple. The film comedy created laughs and the news pictures, including Houston convention scenes, were interesting.

HELD FOR DOPE POSSESSION

Donald Thompson, 25, of Memphis, Mo., a window cleaner, was held for court yesterday by the United States commissioner on a charge of unlawful possession of 2,000 quarter-grain morphine tablets. He was arrested Sunday o nMarket street by Government Narcotic Agent Joseph Colebob and City Detective Frank Ferris, with the morphine in his possession.

Thompson said he purchased the morphine for $10 from a tramp he met on a freight train, on which they were riding from Chicago to Pittsburgh. In default of $2,000 bond Thompson was committed to jail to await trial.

2 EAST LIBERTY STORES AFIRE

A fire in Penn avenue, East Liberty, early today damaged two business houses $1,500 each and attracted scores of persons to the scene of the blaze. The establishments damaged were the Hamilton Music Store, 6008 Penn avenue, and the men's furnishing store of Max Cohen, 6010 Penn avenue.

Patrolman M. M. Piotrawski, who discovered the blaze, said the fire originated between the two two-story buildings. Battalion Chief Fred S. Beckett estimated the damage.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS ASK CHARTER FOR BOARD

The Board of American Missions—a consolidation of the various "home boards" of the United Presbyterian Church of North America—has applied for a charter. Judge John A. Evans of Common Pleas Court yesterday signed the preliminary order on application of Attorney Albert Barnes Smith. J. E. Eichenauer is the president of the board. The headquarters will be in Pittsburgh.

The principal screen attraction is "A Ship Comes In," an immigrant story, with Rudolph Schildkraut and Louise Dresser in the cast. An added film feature is the "Our Gang" comedy, made in Pittsburgh with local talent as the gang members. Col. Jack George, blackface funster, is the comedy feature of the stage show. Walsh and Clark offer a travesty on the "Ask Me Another" fad. Heras and Wallace present a novelty act. The Ballot Troupe display feats of strength.

Get a new hat with what it saves you

Using Listerine Tooth Paste instead of costlier ones, the average saving is $3 per year per person. With this a man may buy a hat, a necktie or two, hosiery and shirts; a woman may purchase stockings, handkerchiefs, cold cream, perfume or vanity case, etc.

Compare this tooth paste to any —and judge by results alone

Large tube 25c

You see it all around you—the effect of efficiency and mass production . . . wonderful motor cars at surprisingly low prices . . . household appliances now costing half what they used to.

Such a tendency was bound to extend to the tooth paste field.

That is why, today, we can offer you a first class dentifrice—at 25c for a large tube. It is called Listerine Tooth Paste.

In our opinion, after fifty years of study of tooth and mouth troubles, it is the ideal tooth paste for all types of teeth.

In addition to certain ingredients for the proper care of teeth, mouth and gums, it contains a marvelous new polishing agent, which reduces brushing to a minimum . . . the speediest dentifrice known.

In the last six months, thousands have switched to Listerine Tooth Paste. Having proved that it cleans teeth whiter and in quicker time, they have discarded older dentifrices costing sometimes twice as much. They apply the saving to buying things they want.

We urge you to try this new dentifrice. Obtainable from any druggist. If you are not delighted with its results and its economy you will be an exception. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE ACID TEST OF LOVE

THE honeymoon is the trial trip of the airship, "Matrimony." The best ballast to take along is a lot of common sense, and the best parachute is a sense of humor.

The average bride and groom do a lot of deep thinking between kisses—and it doesn't take them nine days to get their eyes open to most of each other's little failings and shortcomings.

* * *

That's the great trouble with the honeymoon. It gives two people too much time to think, and too little to think about. Like most "close-ups" it is apt to be a little disillusioning.

HELEN ROWLAND

A newly married couple could begin being HAPPY, right away, if it were not for the torture of the show-wedding and the boredom of the honeymoon trip, when they are packed off alone, and commanded to "be happy."

* * *

The jolly little practical joker, who endeavors to add more trouble and surprises to the life of a honeymoon pair, by tying white ribbon on their luggage and putting rice in their pockets, is carrying coals to Newcastle. They've got enough shocks and surprises coming to them, without his unsolicited assistance.

Most people, in their endeavor to fill in the time, squander enough money and sweetness during the honeymoon, to last all the rest of their lives if spread out economically over the years. Later on they are going to wish they had saved some of the petting and confidences for the long, long winter evenings at home.

Once a woman has watched a man covering his face with shaving lather or seen him sleeping with his mouth open, she begins to wonder why she dreamed of him as such a glamorous "Prince Charming." A man without his collar may BE just as much of a hero as with it—but somehow, he doesn't look it.

* * *

Once a man has seen a woman assembling her schoolgirl complexion, and discovered how her temper works before breakfast, he stops wondering how the Lord made anything so complicated and surprising as a woman, and begins wondering WHY He did it.

The honeymoon is the acid test of love?

It is not actually over, until the bride ceases to stifle her sighs and begins to stifle her yawns—and the bridegroom stops asking "How long will you love me?" and begins asking, "How long before we EAT?"

* * *

If you can weather the storms, shocks, boredom and dead calm of the honeymoon journey, without wrecking your illusions, you can usually weather the rest of that voyage of discovery, called Married Life.

Real Danger Lurks in Powder Burns

NOW the Fourth of July is here. This is the boys' day. It is a day of noise. It is the day of fire-crackers and cannon.

DR. COPELAND

Unfortunately, the Fourth of July is not only a day of natural rejoicing and glorification, but it is a day of explosions, powder burns and endless accidents.

The day after the Fourth used to be one day of the year when the newspapers were filled with reports of death and injury from accidental causes. Since the advent of the automobile every Monday is a record day for such reports. We have too many "S. and S." drivers—persons who buy cars on Saturday and drive them for the first time on Sunday. The highways are crowded, recklessness prevails and accidents are the natural result.

A clean wound is never particularly serious. A wound into which dirt has been carried is always a thing to be dreaded. It is the filth of the street or the filth of the stable or barnyard.

This is because such dirt may carry the germs of tetanus or lockjaw. The germ is carried in the intestines of horses and cattle, so any soil contaminated by the excretions of animals may be infected with this agent.

Lockjaw is a very serious and even fatal disease. The agony of the sufferer is terrible to behold. I can hardly bear to think of the sufferings of a friend and patient of mine who died of tetanus. Though years have passed, I shudder when memory recalls the scene.

I am glad that science has found a way since then of dealing with lockjaw. An antitoxin has been discovered which counteracts the effects of the poison. In the war it was used systematically in all dirt-infected wounds.

Should an accident occur on Fourth of July or any other time, so that street or stable dirt is ground into the tissues, go at once to your doctor and take his advice about treatment. For some reason the palms of the hands appear to be particularly susceptible to this form of infection. Wounds of this region require special care.

Every board of health and most drug stores carry the antitoxin in stock. Bear this in mind.

Everybody should know something about first aid. Every home, shop and factory should be equipped with the simple remedies and dressings. Never take a chance about injuries. Attend to them earily and avoid evil consequences.

Fortunately, our powers of resistance are usually pretty high and we throw off the effects of ordinary infections. Good health is a great protector. It pays us to keep well and strong, because this condition is life and health insurance of the very best sort.

ENDED 20 YEARS OF SUFFERING

Lady Tells What Wonderful Relief Ten Herbs Gave Husband; Feels Fine Now.

Many instances where the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs, has given amazing relief, are being reported to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this successful herbal medicine to crowds of men and women. In some cases there had been long suffering and many medicines were tried in vain.

MRS. REUBEN WEBB

"My husband, Mr. Reuben Webb, had stomach trouble the last 20 years, but Ten Herbs has given him complete relief," was the statement of Mrs. Reuben Webb, 431 Noblestown Road, East Carnegie, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man. "Before using your medicine he had to be very careful what he ate, as almost every kind of food distressed him," Mrs. Webb continued. "Once he lived on a malted milk diet for three weeks. Nearly everything would ferment in his stomach and form gas. He was always tired, and at times could not work. He did not rest well at night, and sometimes was very nervous.

"I read about Ten Herbs in the papers, and we decided that he should give your medicine a fair trial. The third bottle certainly made a great change for the better in him. His stomach has been benefited so much that he can eat anything without being distressed. He is no longer troubled with gas. His appetite is very good, and he is gaining weight. He is not a bit nervous and rests well at night. He works every day and does not have that tired feeling any more. In fact, my husband feels fine in every respect. We do not hesitate to recommend Ten Herbs to our friends and the public."

Ten Herbs is Nature's own medicine for stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and has a cleansing, soothing, correcting effect on the entire system.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

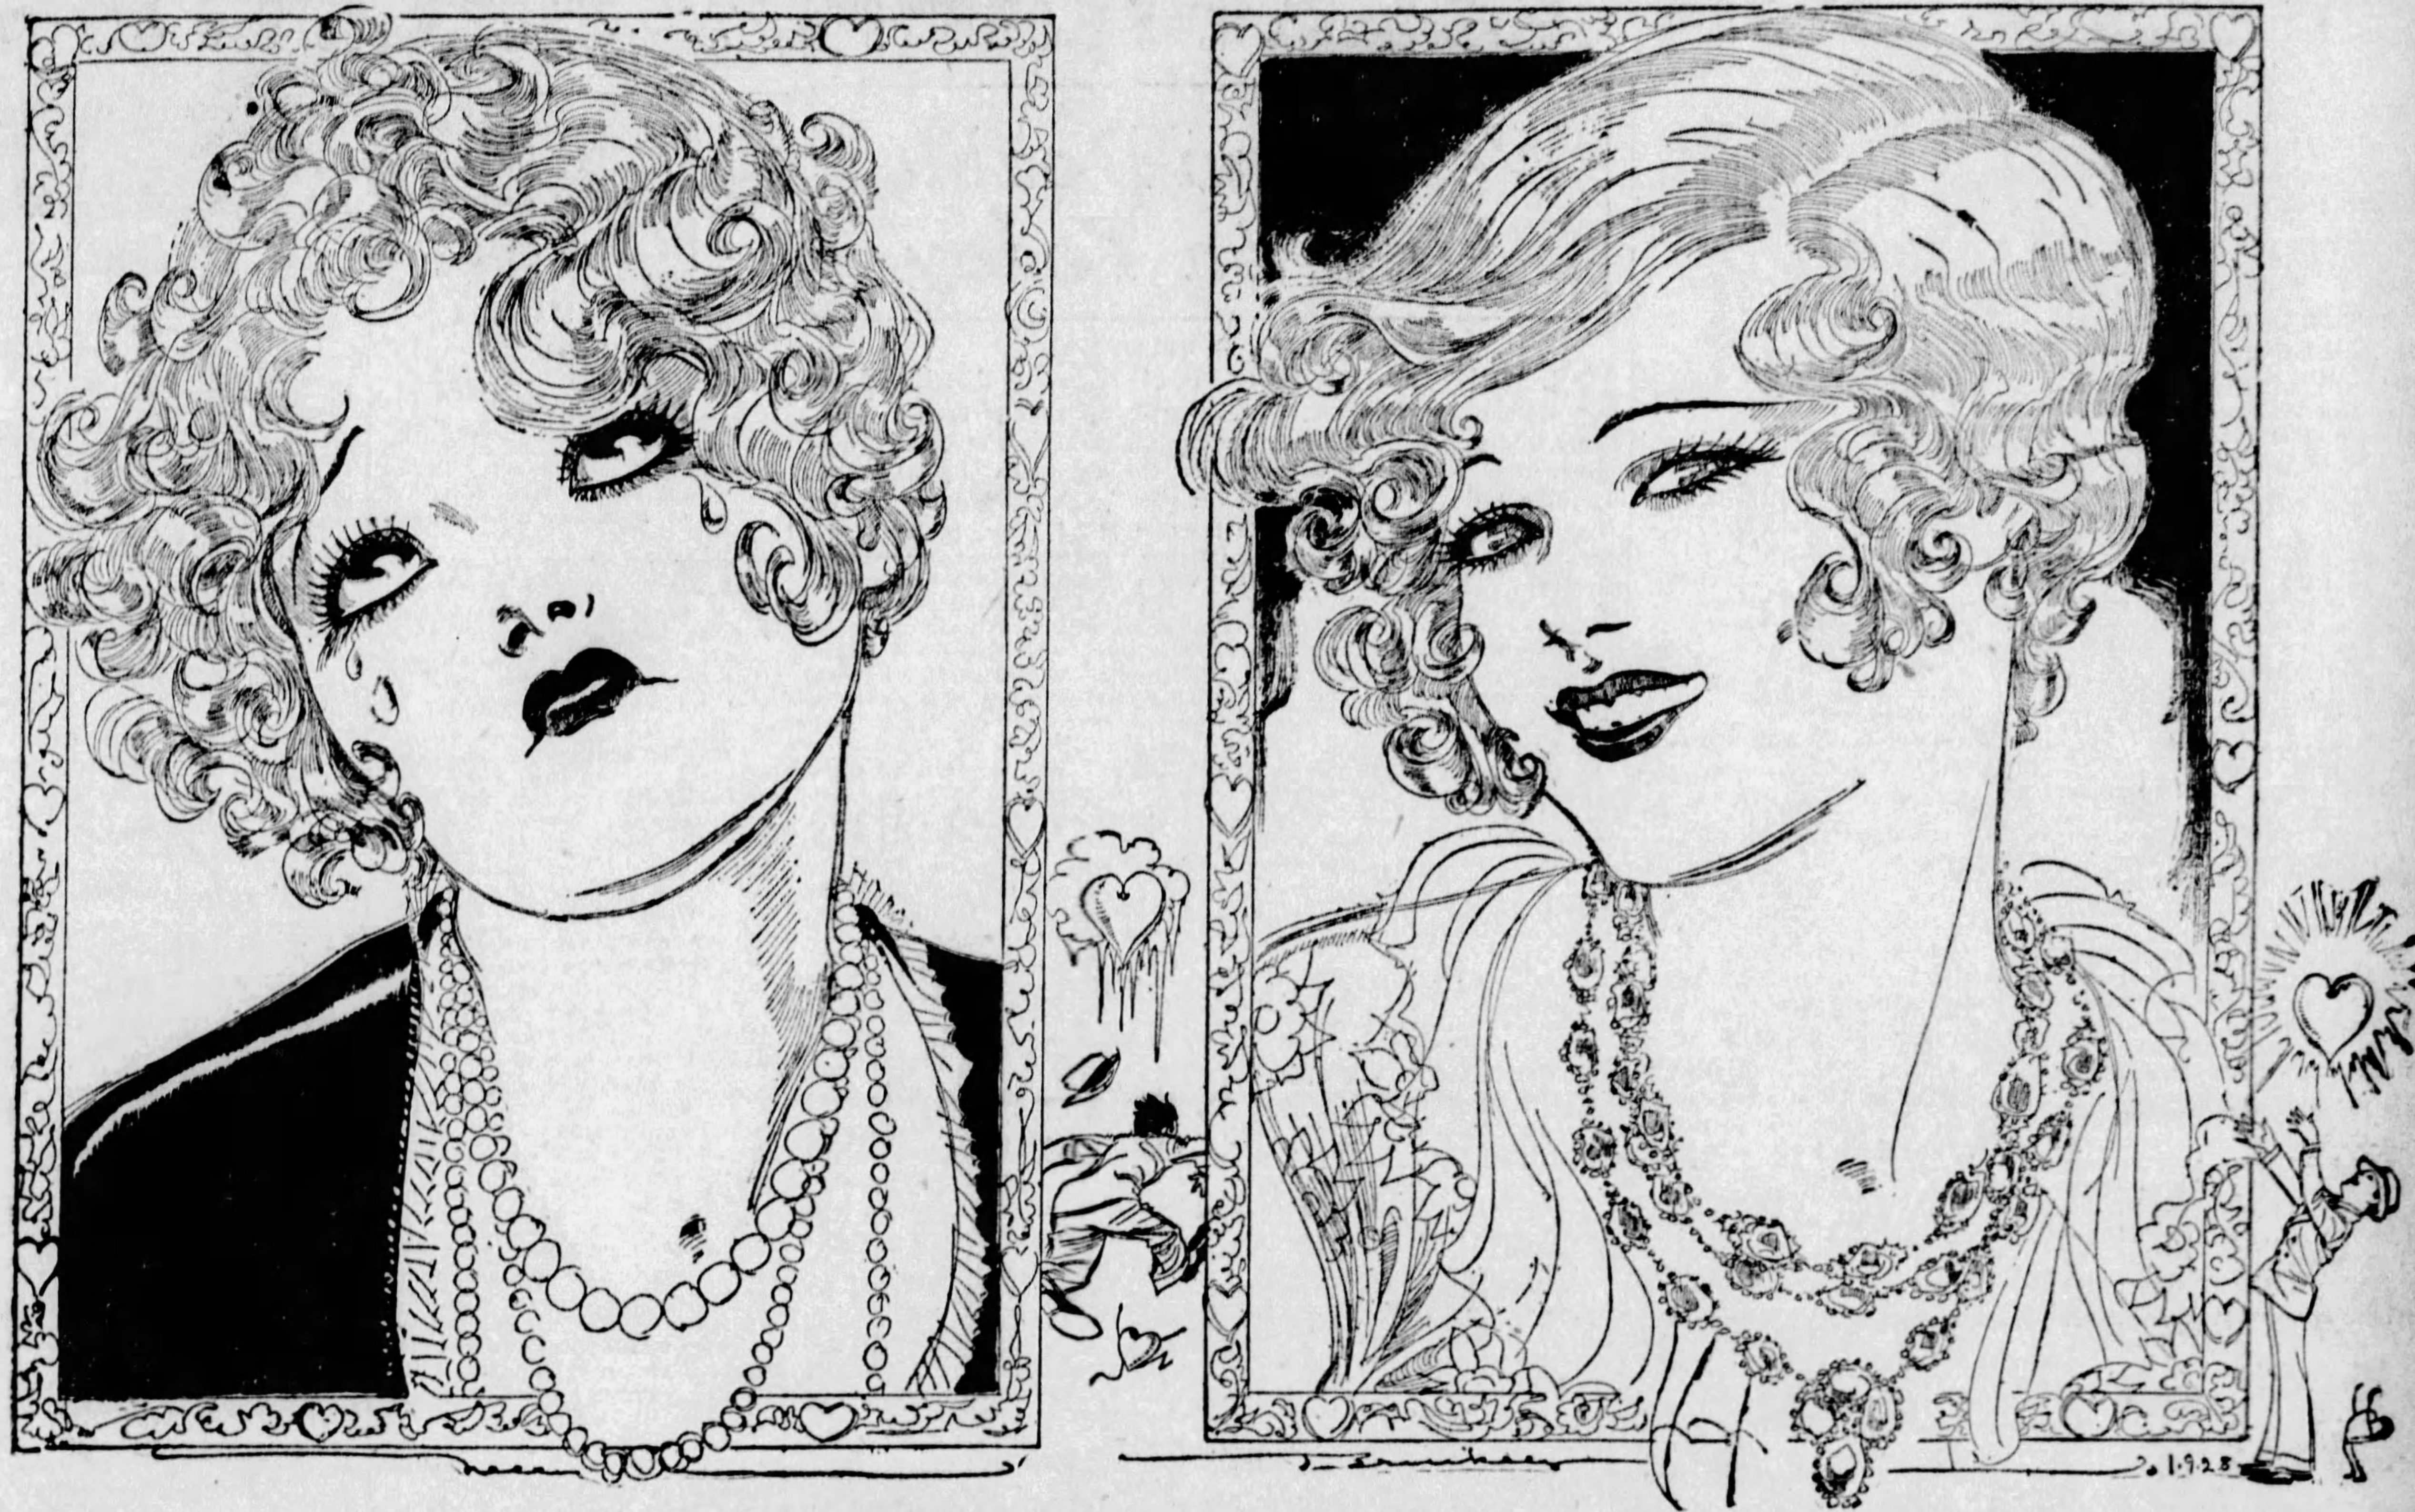
SAD GIRL AND GLAD GIRL

Drawn by Nell Brinkley



ALL GREAT VAMPS OF THE WORLD HAVE BEEN CHEERFUL GIRLS—SMILERS, NOT WEEPERS

IF YOU want the boys and men you know to like you—and from the conversation that goes on around about it seems that you girls, big and little, are terribly concerned, or at least you have a slight interest that way, about whether modern Adam in tweeds and carefully thought-out tie and socks, LIKES you. You read about Cleopatra and want to be a vamp. You sit in the darkened theater and watch that talented and ravishing young lady Greta Garbo go through lives like a tornado, and you WANT to be a vamp.

Cleopatra SEEMS a darkling, menacing little figure, languid and sober. Her end was sad enough. But I'll bet you that in real life she was a person with a sense of humor, and that the reason Anthony went back and back was because she made him laugh. Greta, too, is a menacing, languid figure, sober as a judge, raising havoc with a sad, straight face. But how do you know that she is not cheerful and happy away from the screen?

In real true life, the greatest, most threatening vamps are the girls who are happy. In real life tears only make pretty eyes red, give you a double chin from pouting your mouth out, and send Adam flying.

Three young men sat around a table above the street called Broadway, and talked. Said one: "I take another train now. I couldn't stand it any longer. She's a pretty girl, too, and nice. But every time I met her on the train she had a headache or a tale of sorrow. If I said, 'Well, Bessie, you're looking awfully pretty today,' SHE'D say, 'I'm glad SOMEBODY thinks I'm pretty good-looking!' I've had to change my train."

Said another: "I don't care for cut-ups, but off the screen tragedy is out. June's a pretty girl too, but there's something always wrong. I'm sorry for unfortunates in theory, but in practice I run away from the weepers and toward the smilers."

Said the third, "Yes, and I like a girl who isn't bored to her death all of the time. Do you notice that Patsy never goes a place, no matter how new to her it is, or what a thrill there is in it, that gives HER one. She always has a punk time, without one miss. I like a girl who can smile a lot of the time, and who says, 'I've had a WONDERFUL time!'"

If you want a real peek into the real vamp's make-up closer, you will find her using a lot of SMILES on her face.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Horoscopes

Wednesday, July 4

ACCORDING to the rule of the stars this day is not to be read as one of great importance from a constructive standpoint. While the tendency to the pursuit of pleasure is uppermost, yet this is attended by the menace of excessive indulgence, extravagance with pastimes or investments in the nature of gambling. Also there may be some conditions complexioned by subtlety or duplicity. It is urged that discretion and circumspection be exercised generally.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year calling for discretion and wise counsel in all their affairs, personal and business. Speculation should be shunned and duplicity and underhand methods avoided.

A child born on this day may be best fitted to rule its destiny by a very careful education along the lines of thrift, integrity and straightforwardness.

Thursday, July 5

A DAY of activity and enterprise is shown by the interesting congeries of stellar operations, but withal there is much of conflict and hazard. The energies may be under high stimulus, but tumult and impetuosity may put in jeopardy the result of the most diligent and long-sustained effort. Although invention, science and unusual projects should thrive, yet the speculative tendency may negative results. However, despondency or discouragement may not matter; wariness should.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by an interesting year, with much opportunity for success, in possibly unusual directions, if they will check turbulence and impetuosity as well as an inclination to speculation and risk.

A child born on this day may be clever and ingenious as well as industrious, but its success may be jeopardized by a propensity to speculation and rash and tempestuous moves and moods.

Nature alone contributes to the goodness of Vess Dry

IT is easy to understand why Vess Dry has made such an instantaneous hit in town. Real Jamaica ginger instead of capsicum which makes ordinary ginger ale so hot and peppery—real cane sugar instead of saccharine, the cheaper and unpleasant-tasting substitute—fine fruit essences and spices—and the purest of sparkling water.

That's the recipe for Vess Dry—just the best that nature affords. Small wonder that people say it is better than other ginger ales selling at its price, that it is superior, even, to many costing far more.

How we counter-balance the extra cost of these fine ingredients

We realized that we couldn't use these fine ingredients in Vess Dry and sell it for 5 cents if we dressed up the bottle with fancy labels, gold foil and other unnecessary trimmings. We knew that we couldn't keep it at this price if forced to add the express charges to this city on bottles and water. So we decided to use the best ingredients obtainable and make up for this expense by selling it in our own distinctive bottles and having it bottled right here in your city.

Make this test today

It costs you but five cents to decide whether you would rather pay additional for labels and frills which you cannot drink. Just spend that amount for a bottle of Vess Dry at any of the town's better drug, grocery and confectionery stores and soft drink stands.

RULE BOOK WILL BE GIVEN LADS

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

EVERY boy entered in the the first annual West Penn amateur junior golf tournament of The Sun-Telegraph for the William Randolph Hearst trophy, to be held on the Schenley Park Municipal links, Thursday, July 12, will receive a book of United States Golf Association rules. So that each entrant is thoroughly familiar with every angle of the game, it is urged that all of the boys seriously study them for the benefit not only of the present competition but for the sake of the game of golf itself in all future playing.

One cannot play any game without being familiar with its rules. And there are so many rules, some of them minor and others of great importance that it is felt certain a number of the tourney entrants will profit by the lesson they will learn in perusing the code. To play golf is one thing—but to play strictly according to the rules is the only thing. Unless one plays according to the rules, he is playing a game other than golf.

It will be of great benefit to the coming generation of golfers if we begin with youth to build up a respect for the code of the game just as much as junior competition should be heartily encouraged.

The Sun-Telegraph's tournament is going to be played on the square, no matter how great the field will be. An earnest effort is being made to keep it strictly amateur, and any entrant found to be guilty of misrepresenting himself will be declared ineligible immediately. Information directed against any entrant so misrepresenting himself will aid greatly in the success of the tournament.

Two classes, junior for boys 15 to 18, and sub-junior, for boys 14 years of age and under will compete for the Hearst prize. Boys 18 years of age and under who are not attending an institution of learning above high school grades may enter, as may caddies who have NOT accepted money for caddying after their sixteenth birthday. Play will be at 18 holes medal, and no matter which division the boy with the low score is playing in, his card will win the Hearst trophy.

The Sun-Telegraph will mail to each entrant a booklet of United States Golf Association rules this week; any boy ignorant of the rules during the playing of the tournament will have only himself to blame. The event will be conducted strictly on U. S. G. A. rules. Study yours!

WORCESTER, Mass., July 3.—(AP.)—Ed (Strangler) Lewis successfully defended his world's championship wrestling title here last night when he conquered Stanley Stasiak, powerful Polish challenger from Boston, in straight falls.

West Penn Doubles Final on Today

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

DR. JOHN O'LOUGHLIN, newly crowned district singles titleholder, and Dr. Billy McEllroy, former owner of the same distinction, will meet the crack Carnegie Tech pair, B. P. Hoover and A. J. Glaser, for the Western Pennsylvania doubles tennis championship on the P. A. A. gallery court, Bigelow boulevard at Ruskin avenue, at 4. p. m. today

O'Loughlin and McEllroy, brilliant Winged Head duo, broke through to the titular round by dint of a hard-earned five-set triumph over J. P. (Toots) Davis and Jack Beatty, stars of Stanton Heights, in a bitterly contested 6-3, 2-6, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5 struggle on the Red and Gray lot late yesterday afternoon. Hoover and Glaser crashed the final at the expense of Jake Olko and Andy Smeaton, Duke varsity outfit, at the Pittsburgh Golf Club last Wednesday. The O'Loughlin-McEllroy victory over Davis and Beatty saw the tide of battle ebb and flow with vast uncertainty till the very end.

The West Penn doubles event has been retarded by the absence of Dr. O'Loughlin who, with Jack Lauler, likewise a Winged Head racqueter, represented Pittsburgh in the United States Inter-City doubles and the Ohio State doubles at the Cleveland Tennis and Racquet Club last week-end. O'Loughlin and Lauler were eliminated in the Inter-City quarter-finals in a torrid five-set struggle and lost a three-set decision in the semi-finals of the Ohio State conclave.

Extra! Extra!! Dempsey to Come Back

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—The Illustrated Daily News declared here in a copyright article that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, is preparing for a comeback, which he plans for the fall of 1929.

The paper added that Dempsey will not relax interest in the race track while he is in training at a ranch near Fresno. The News said Dempsey will devote much of his time to raising race horses.

According to the article, Tex Rickard would promote the 1929 fight. A $750,000 guarantee would be asked by Dempsey, the article said.

MORGAN BOUT SET BACK

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—Postponement of the Tod Morgan-Eddie Martin junior-lightweight championship match from tomorrow to Thursday night at Ebbets Field was sanctioned today by the State Athletic Commission at the request of Promoter Humbert Fugazy.

Fugazy asked for the shift to avoid the holiday on the Fourth and it was approved, inasmuch as Madison Square Garden, which usually occupies Thursday night on the fight calendar, has no show. It is a return match and for 15 rounds.

The commission sanctioned, as a flyweight title affair, a 12-round match Friday night at the Rockaway, (L. I.) Stadium, between Corp. Izzy Schwartz, recognized in this state as 112-pound champion, and Frisco Grande, Filipino challenger from Buffalo.

The prospective match at Ebbets Field between Leo Lomski, Pacific Coast light-heavyweight, and Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, was eliminated from the slate by the commission's refusal to permit Walker to enter the ring at 165 pounds. Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, refuses to have his protege make the stipulated 160 pounds for a bout with a much heavier man.

The solons approved August 8 for the world light-heavyweight title bout between Lomski and Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, the champion, at Ebbets Field.

Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, as a result of an injury which kept him from an engagement to fight Loughran recently at Madison Square Garden, was placed on the "unavailable list" until such time as he fights in the Garden.

The previous record was made here three years ago by R. H. McGarity, of Washington, D. C., with 50 consecutive bull's eyes.

TRACK, SWIM MEETS CARDED FOR SCHENLEY

Two of the big features of Pittsburgh's Independence Day celebration tomorrow will take place in Schenley Park, a track and field meet at 9:30 o'cloc in the morning at the Oval and a swimming gala at 1:30 in the afternoon at the park pool.

Splendid sport is anticipated at both meets, with the cream of the district's athletic and swimming talent participating. In the track meet will be such stars as Pete Bowen, of Pitt, one of this section's leading candidates for a place on the American Olympic team; Bill Butler, Geneva's colored flash, and a host of other college and club stars.

HIGHLAND PARK TRACK, SWIM MEET SLATED

East Enders district will trek to Highland Park tomorrow to witness one of the finest athletic and swimming meets ever held in that section. The sports entertainment is part of a big Independence Day program arranged by the Pittsburgh Board of Trade and various other East End business and trade bodies.

A modified marathon race, starting at the Postoffice building will inaugurate activities. Then promptly at 2 p. m. or when the long jaunt ends, at the athletic field in the park, the track and field contests will be set in motion. Sixteen events appear on the program. The swim meet will start at 3:30 o'clock.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Home Stay of Bucs Critical Point in Race. Must Sink or Swim in Next 19 Games—2,000-Mile Water Marathon—Billiard Amateurs to Be Given More Attention.

BACK for another long stay at the home grounds, starting this afternoon, the Pirates are facing the most critical point in the pennant race. It's sink or swim now, their last chance to get back into the running for the National League flag.

Ervin Brame

The Bucs are home for a total of 19 games, three with Cincinnati and four each with New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Brooklyn in the order named. Upon what happens in those 19 games is going to depend largely the position in which Pittsburgh will be found at the end of the season.

SO here's where the league champions of 1927 have got to do or die. Thus far they have failed to show anything like the form expected of them, and though it must be admitted that this failure has been due chiefly to a record-breaking run of illness and injuries, it must be borne in mind that the victory and defeat columns take no account as to what factors entered into games, but only as to whether they were won or lost.

The long spring slump of the Rovers has not put them completely out of the race, but they cannot continue to skid any further.

There has got to be a great change for the better in these 19 home games, and the Bucs must make use of the opportunity for a drive that will hardly be possible later away from home. If that change doesn't come quickly there will not be time for it afterward.

But while there's life, there's hope, and it is the duty of the players and the fans as well to throw off their lethargic spell and put everything they've got into these home games.

PITTSBURGH'S action in recalling Pitcher Ervin Brame from the Indianapolis club is a very popular step, as the fans here were of the opinion in the early spring that he looked like a real pitcher and that opinion has been borne out by the fine record made by the right-hander in Indianapolis. He won five games out of six, and his only defeat was suffered by a score of 1 to 0.

Norman Ross

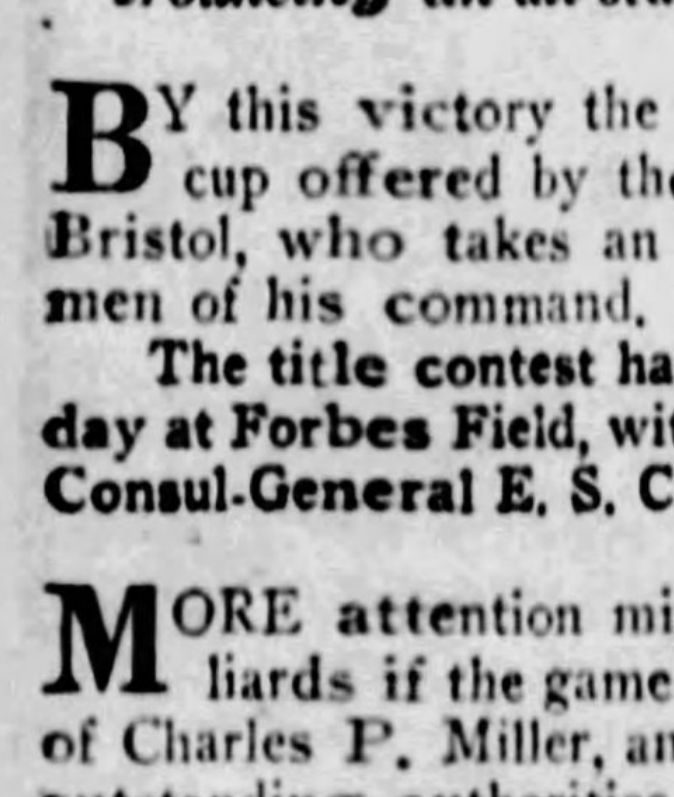
BRAME ought to be of considerable help here in the Pirates' present pitching plight.

Incidentally, many fans regret the going of Burwell. Though not a youngster he made a good showing in his few chances with the Pirates, and judging from some of the records made this season there are one or two who could have been more easily spared, for the present at least.

IN this period of marathons of all descriptions, those who marveled at the temerity of a flock of footracers starting out on a competitive hike from Los Angeles to New York, are watching with even greater wonder the preparations for a professional marathon swim of 2,000 miles in the Mississippi River.

That's a new and different kind of strain to test the endurance and strength of the human body, and Norman Ross, former all-around swimming champion of the world, who is in charge, says he has devised an excellent plan for the fair and successful conduct of the event.

"INSTEAD of allowing the contestants to follow the usual and very unsatisfactory go-as-you-please system," he announces, "they will be lined up together twice a day, made to race over definite stretches and be timed individually for each stretch. Then, when the entire course has been covered, the times returned will be totaled and the prizes awarded to the swimmers showing the lowest aggregate figures. This will place speed at a premium and not permit the floaters to head the real swimmers by just staying indefinitely in the running water.



Admiral Bristol

IN spite of the fact that Donie Bush and his crew are buried in the dark depths of sixth place, one Pittsburgh team, and one known as the "Pirates," at that, have brought honors to this city by winning a pennant. Associated Press reports make known that the nickname of Pittsburgh's ball club is also well known on far eastern diamonds, where the "Pirates" from the cruiser Pittsburgh, flagship of the American Asiatic fleet, have proved themselves the class of the naval aggregation and have recently annexed what amounts to an American championship of the China coast by trouncing an all-star civilian nine at Shanghai.

BY this victory the "Pirates" became owners of a loving cup offered by the fleet commander, Admiral Mark L. Bristol, who takes an active interest in athletics among the men of his command.

The title contest had many of the trimmings of an opening day at Forbes Field, with the admiral present and United States Consul-General E. S. Cunningham tossing out the first ball.

MORE attention might be devoted to the amateur in billiards if the game is to continue its growth, is the opinion of Charles P. Miller, and for 40 years recognized as one of the outstanding authorities on the game.

"I have discovered that the amateur is the life of the sport, and if he is neglected the game will suffer. If we have no amateurs, then there will be no need for professionals, and hence billiard followers will be deprived of a chance to see the artists work."

Willie Hoppe

PLANS already are under way to revive interest in the amateurs. The billiard heads have found that exhibitions by professionals serve a purpose, but they do not solve the problem. The new system, which now is being tried, is to have the professionals serve as instructors and to devote more time to the amateurs. Thus far good results have been reported. It will be recalled that Mr. Miller was the real billiard head about the time when Hoppe was making his bow in the front ranks in the game. He always took a personal interest in Hoppe, and his admiration for this versatile cueist still lingers. He said that Hoppe always is active, never fails to give his best, and therefore is entitled to the rating of billiards' greatest asset.

TOM GETS PAR 72, O'HARA A 78

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

PLAYING the difficult Oakmont Country Club course in the same faultless manner that he did last year, when he won the national open title, Tommy Armour, of Washington, today scored par 72 to gain a six-stroke advantage in the race for the Pennsylvania state open championship, now in progress on the Hulton course.

At the finish of 18 holes of play yesterday Armour and Peter O'Hara, Westmoreland Country Club pro, were tied for the lead at 148, even par, but O'Hara was unable to maintain the fast pace today and finished the morning 18 holes in 78. Armour's 54-hole total is 220 and that of O'Hara is 226. Although he is six strokes back of Armour, the Westmoreland pro still retains second place by a big margin.

TURNESA SCORES

Mike Turnesa, renowned New York professional, almost duplicated Armour's par performance. He scored 73, one over par, today, and is in temporary possession of fifth place with 257. Fred Baroni, of Conneaut Lake, is in third position with 78—235, and Perry Delvecchic, of Greensburg, is fourth with 79—236.

One more round of 18 holes remains to be played before the tourney's close this evening, and every indication is that Armour will coast into the championship. He gained his par 72 today by going out in par 37 and coming in in par 35, and on no hole in the incoming nine was he over 4. His card:

Out	4	4	4	4	4	3	5	5	4—37
In	4	4	4	4	4	4	3	4	4—35—72

O'Hara was somewhat wild from the tee today, and he also encountered difficulty in getting down his putts. He stayed only two strokes behind Armour in going out in 39, but he slipped to four over par on the in nine. His card:

Out	5	3	4	6	4	4	5	3	5—39
In	5	5	5	3	4	5	4	4	4—39—78

MANY WITHDRAWALS

The third round produced many withdrawals. Many prominent local stars were among those who quit, but the most renowned linksman to withdraw was Larry Nabholtz, Sharon's internationalist.

The scores for today's first 18-hole round and the 54-hole totals follow:

Tommy Armour, Washington, 72-220; Peter O'Hara, Westmoreland, 78-226; Fred Baroni, Conneaut Lake, 78-235; Perry Delvechio, Greensburg, 79-236; Mike Turnesa, New York, 73-237; Larry Nabholtz, Sharon, withdrew; Charles A. Totten, Stanton Heights, 84-251; Walter Loeffler, South Hills, withdrew; Charles Onoratta, Schenley Park, 78-246; Julius Pollack, Wheeling, W. Va., 82-251; Jack Stewart, Thornburg, withdrew; E. G. Jacob, Castle Shannon, 83—250; Howard Loeb, Westmoreland, 93-280; Bert Rowe, Oakmont, withdrew; E. J. Hewitt, New York, 95—286; Kenneth S. Milne, Longue Vue, withdrew; T. P. Read, Huntingdon, Pa., 105—306.

JOEY LA GREY EASILY BEATS CUDDY DE MARCO

EBENSBURG, Pa., July 3.—(AP.)—Joey LaGrey, New York City, was returned the winner over Cuddy DeMarco, Charleroi, in the 10-round feature bout held here last night at the Fair Grounds, in connection with the annual industrial exposition. DeMarco was in a bad way in the ninth, but his ring experience served him in good stead.

Dreyfuss Given Cup By Tech

TOKEN OF TARTANS' ESTEEM

Photo shows Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, looking at a silver loving cup presented him by the athletic authorities of Carnegie Tech in consideration of the kindness shown them in connection with their rental of Forbes Field for their home football games. Their contract expires next fall, and, beginning with 1929 season, Tech will share the Pitt Stadium with the Pitt Panthers. The cup signifies that the departure from Forbes Field does not mean the Techites are dissatisfied with that locale; they merely found the proffer of the use of the stadium so attractive that they could not afford to turn it down.

CAHILL NAMED SECRETARY OF U.S.F.A.

By TOM BIRKS,

The Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The National Commission of the United States Football Association met at the Hotel Brevoort yesterday afternoon and again appointed Thomas Cahill, of New York, national secretary. The much-discussed appointment of a field secretary was not made. The other important business transacted was the grant of $300 to the United States Referees' Union for missionary work.

While the governing body was in session, the referees' union held its annual general meeting, and its principal item of business was election of officers. E. J. Gilgane, of New York, succeeded himself as president. T. B. White, of Boston, was made second vice president; J. McFarlane, of Cleveland, third vice president, and A. M. Addison, tresaurer. J. H. Pickering, of Cleveland, won over former Secretary Welsh for the secretarial job.

Nothing but harmony prevailed at the governing body session, and any move to supplant Cahill was not in evidence. Two or three radical rule changes came up at the referees' gathering, one giving state associations a vote for each member especially being condemned by the delegates. It was a smart move by the New York district to monopolie the official board. Practically all the commission, including the new president, Armstrong Patterson, sat in on the referees' session.

. B. White, of Boston, opposed Gilgane for the presidency. White, running for a second time against Eddie Doneghay, of West Penn Valley, got the nomination. Had Doneghay been present, he would have been elected, undoubtedly.

At the close of the sessions the National Commission was the guest of the United States Referees' Union at its annual banquet.

YANKEES WIN AND LOSE AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3.—(AP.)—The Wimbledon Stadium courts were given over entirely to doubles competition today as the semi-finalists in the singles competition rested before renewing their title battles.

The third round of the mixed doubles opened with a victory for Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the California veteran, paired with the South African, P. D. B. Spence, over the youthful Californian, Helen Jacobs, and John Hennessey, American Davis Cup star. The scores were 6-3, 6-3.

The French musketeers maintained their triumphant pace as Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon teamed to eliminate in summary fashion the Anglo-Dutch combination of Fisher and Timmer, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

TILDEN, HUNTER WIN

Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, American and British doubles champions, overcame a poor start to conquer the English pair, Cyril Eames and George Crole-Rees, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

The victory put Tilden and Hunter into the semi-finals in defense of their title. It also eliminated the last of the British contenders from the men's vents of the tournament, leaving France and America to fight it out for the principal honors.

The youthful doubles team of Betty Nuthall, of England, and Cecelie Aussem, of Germany, met unexpected defeat at the hands of two British Rivals, Miss E. Hemmant and Miss Strawson, 4-6, 6-4 and 8-6.

$300,000 Of Fight Gate In

By SID MERCER,

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Practically one-third of the "gate" that Tex Rickard must draw with the Tunney-Heeney fight to cover expenses is covered either by cash on hand or orders that await approval and billing.

This advance, estimated at close to $300,000, deals mostly in ringside seats at $40 each, including the state and federal taxes amounting to 30 per cent.

There was a brisk demand for medium priced locations when the public sale opened yesterday at the Garden. Rickard says he has received many block orders from railroads which will sell directly to passengers, as was done in the Middle West last fall for the Tunney-Dempsey spectacle. He declares the receipts will gross well over $1,000,000.

In admitting that it would cost him approximately $700,000 to promote the fight Rickard would not say that Tunney and Heeney were receiving flat guarantees, but he made no comment when interviewers put down $500,000 for the champion and $100,000 for Heeney.

Other expenses brought the total up to $705,000, but from this Tex subtracted $22,000 as income from the moving pictures. To draw $700,000 net Rickard must do a gross of more than $900,000.

At Ebensburg, Pa.—Joe LaGrey defeated Cuddy DeMarco, 10 rounds; Bobby Richardson defeated Rudy Cedar, 8 rounds; Arty DeChamplaine defeated Johnny Chiodo, 6 rounds; Linn Jordan defeated George Pavlick, 4 rounds.

SHERIFF NABS NORTH RANDALL TRACK HEADS

CLEVELAND, July 3.—(AP.)—The attempt of operators of the North Randall race track to conduct the Cleveland Grand Circuit meeting with betting in vogue resulted yesterday in the arrest of H. K. Devereux, president of the Grand Circuit, and three track operatives on charges of violating Sheriff Edward J. Hanratty's no-gambling edict.

Devereux looked upon the arrests as a means of deciding in the courts whether race track betting is to be allowed in Cuyahoga county without interference from the sheriff.

All were held under $100 bond for arraignment today.

Devereux ordered all betting stopped after the arrests.

EASTERN INVADERS NEXT FOR CORSAIRS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

NOT satisfied with what they accomplished in Chicago and St. Louis, but holding to their contention that they will show better in the last half of the race, the Pirates are back in town. A single game with the Reds is on the card for this afternoon, this contest to be followed by morning and afternoon fights tomorrow — Independence Day.

The Buccos lost two hard series in the West, but they went down fighting. Two out of three were dropped to the Cubs and the Buccos won only two of the five smashing fights with the league-leading Cardinals, but a little break here or there would have given the Freebooters the "rubber" contest in St. Louis.

GOT TOUGH BREAKS

Losing the first two struggles to the Redbirds, the Pirates fought with their back to the wall and came very close to winning three fights in a row. A little lapse in the pitching coupled with some loose fielding militated against the Pittsburghers in the closing game of Sunday, after they had copped the opener through Fred Fussell's impressive pitching.

The contending athletes were well fatigued at the conclusion of the doubleheader played in unusual heat. Fussell gave everything he had and was ill at the end of the contest and more athletes on both sides felt the competition in view of the sweltering condition. Those performers who were yearning for hot weather surely were in their element as the two games were staged.

BUCS GLAD TO BE BACK

The Freebooters, nevertheless, are glad to be back in their beloved Oakland Orchard. While home they will take on each of the four Eastern foemen, the arrangement of the schedule for the next three weeks being such as to comfort the home players.

The Giants will be the first of the Seaboard invaders to reach the city. They will be followed here by the Phillies, the Braves and the Dodgers in the order named. The home card then will be unbroken through the remainder of

DeMarco To Battle Brignolia

By HARRY KECK,

The Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

CUDDY DEMARCO vs. Larry Brignolia.

That's a match that ought to get the fans, and it has been made by Jim McGirr, the McKeesport promoter, for his Cycler Park outdoor arena, one week from next Monday night.

DeMarco is a home-towner in the Tube City and Brignolia has beaten Phil Scello and Joey LaGrey, two favorites, there. Every time a lightweight or welterweight cleans up everything in sight in McKeesport, DeMarco is called upon either to be next in the line of victims or to stop the onward rush of the invader of his preserves. More than a year ago such a situation arose with regard to LaGrey. He had been knocking his foes kicking and was a riot in the Tube City. Then he met Cuddy —and finished on the receiving end of a tasty boxing lesson. LaGrey reversed this decision at Ebensburg, Pa., last night.

Brignolia is much the same style ringman as LaGrey, a mixing socker. Generally fighters of that type are ducksoup for Cuddy, who right now is going better than he has in several years.

McGirr announces he will have three preliminaries of a caliber in keeping with the main event. DeMarco and Brignolia have agreed to scale in at 146 pounds and Brignolia held out for a guarantee before signing. He had a counter offer from an Erie promoter for the same match. He makes his home in Erie and is a big card there, and DeMarco recently defeated Johnny Shupack in that town.

It has not yet been definitely decided whom Terry Lingo will meet in the windup at Little Washington next Monday night. Young Rudy has the inside track, but the promoter claims his terms are a bit too high and he is in touch with Steve O'Malley and Freddie Fitzgerald in case he cannot close immediately for Rudy's services.

Matchmaker Ed Fritz of the New Castle Jolly Bowl is at work on some good bouts. He has Phil Verdi of Rochester, N. Y., matched with Rosy Stoy of Lancaster for next Monday night and either will have Emmett Rocco on with a well-known heavyweight opponent two weeks later or will use Paris (Kid) Cangie, New Castle lightweight, against Billy Grime, the Australian triple champion, or some other worthy foe. Terry Lingo, the North Side sensation, also is in line for a bout on one of these cards.

KUCK BEATS RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(AP.)—An indication of what may be expected of American athletes in the Olympic games was shown here yesterday when John Kuck, of the Los Angeles A. C., threw the 16-pound shot 52 feet 6 inches in practice, exceeding his own world's record of 51 feet ½ inch.

Bambino Hits 31st; 70 His Aim

NEW YORK, July 3.—(INS.)—Despite a lame back and a wrenched shoulder, Babe Ruth is keeping pace with his ambition to hit 70 home runs this year. The big Yankee slugger's thirty-first homer of the current campaign, made against Garland Braxton at Washington yesterday, puts him one past the halfway mark of his 1927 record and the Yanks have played only 69 of their 154 games. The Bam is 24 games, 22 days and six homers ahead of his last year's record pace.

this week, and for the two succeeding weeks.

There is much reason to believe that the play of the Dreyfuss entry will be improved in the long stay in Oakland. Nearly every member of the club, the slab staff excepted is in fine shape.

The pitching division is sufficient to cause much concern, with stars like Kremer, Hill and M'ljus carrying on like medicore hurlers, and Meadows out of it altogether. Through it all Grimes stands like a beacon to cheer his mates to greater exploits.

HENS SIGN TAYLOR

TOLEDO, July 3.—(AP.)—Eddie Taylor, former Buffalo International league infielder, but thsi year reserve player with the Boston Braves, has been signed by the Toledo Mud Hens, of the American Association. At the same time, it was announced that the Hens had returned Infielder Jacobs to the Chicago Cubs.

Decathlon Ace Injured

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(AP.)—Fait (Chief) Elkins, national decathlon champion and leading United States hope in that event for the Olympic games, pulled a tendon in the first heat of the 100-meter event of the national decathlon and final Olympic tryout today.

The misfortune to Elkins came with startling suddenness. He started in a three-man heat and was leading at 60 yards when he suddenly pulled up lame and was able only to stagger across the finish line.

He is a Nebraska Indian.

Elkins definitely withdrew from the trial after he had tried unsuccessfully to participate in the broad jump with a rubber bandage and brace on his injured left leg.

As to whether Elkins thus has lost his last chance for a place on the United States Olympic team, Coach Robertson said he could not be sure.

"That is for a group to decide," he said. "My personal opinion, though, is that Elkins' leg will not be so he can work out on it for three weeks. In the meantime he would be losing condition and would be unable to practice his jumps and other events, so that he could hardly be expected to be up to form."

"It is a very unfortunate occurrence," Robertson declared. "Elkins was probably our best bet in the decathlon."

There were 22 men from all parts of the country entered in this 10-event test, half of which was to be held today and the rest tomorrow.

Eight heats were necessary in the 100 meters, the opening event. The time was fully as fast as was expected in view of the high class, hand picked field.

The summary:

MR. JUNKS WINNER OF NEWMARKET RACE

LONDON, July 3.—(AP.)—The July stakes for two-year-olds, five furlongs and 140 yards, at Newmarket summer meeting today was won by Major McCalmont's gray colt Mr. Junks, by Tetratema out of false piety, starting an odds on favorite of 11 to 4.

A. D. Rothschild's chestnut colt Reflector was second, half a length behind, starting at 11 to 2, while Lord Rosebery's brown colt Midlothian, 50 to 1, was third, six lengths back.

Five ran. The race was won last year by Fairway, this year's unsuccessful derby favorite.

PIRATES WIN EXHIBITION

INDIANAPOLIS, July 3.—(AP.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates nosed out Indianapolis in an exhibition game here yesterday afternoon, 5 to 4, due largely to a concentrated batting attack in the sixth frame, in which three runs were pushed over. With the score tied at four all in the eighth, Mulligan, Pirate third sacker, was safe on an error, stole second and third, and crossed the plate while Speece was winding up. The score:

ENDURANCE

Counts Most of all

TODAY, the true worth of a motor oil is evidenced by its ENDURANCE. If it lasts....it lubricates.

Heat and friction, the two destructive factors that break-down and burn up most oils are the same factors that cause automobile motors to break-down and wear out.

Heat, friction and compression have increased....cars are being driven faster ...motors have outgrown the old-fashioned oil. Now, there is an absolute need for the "long-wearing" lubrication of Waverly All-Pennsylvania. Try a crank-case full yourself....today. You'll get "more miles per quart" and that means more miles per car.

Deficit in Co. Office Upkeep

The recorder of deeds' office was not self-sustaining last year. An audit of the office compiled today by Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, shows that $190,668.08 in fees and commissions were collected. The payroll for the year was $185,500.50 and expenses for maintaining the office $69,811.60, which left a deficit of $64,744.02.

At the beginning of last year 6,809 instruments were on hand for record which had not been transcribed. At the present time approximately 1,450 have not been transcribed. The personnel, including Recorder of Deeds Samuel D. Foster, numbers 100. The report was made to County Controller Robert G. Woodside.

TUGS FAIL TO FREE VESSEL

HALIFAX, N. S., July 3.—(INS.)—The British cruiser Dauntless, which struck on Thrum Cap Shoals, eight miles east of Halifax, late yesterday, probably will be a total loss, according to crews of lifeboats returning early today from the shoals.

The ship struck in a dense fog and was held fast amidships, with rocks piercing her hull. Her compartments soon filled with water.

The combined efforts of five tugs and the rising tide failed to float the ship. If a storm comes up, mariners fear she will be swept off into deep water, as she is exposed to the open sea.

Just as darkness was setting in, lifeboat crews from shore were called and all the ship's boats were launched. The crew was ordered to leave the ship. Over 400 men are being brought to Halifax dockyard. Fifty men were still standing by the ship early today.

The Dauntless is commanded by Capt. K. D. McPherson. She is attached to the British North Atlantic squadron and is registered at over 5,000 tons.

Police Inspector J. P. Clancey renewed his efforts to wipe out lotteries in the Hill district today, when he had arraigned in Morals Court five alleged principals and 11 agents in two lotteries. All but one were Negroes.

Magistrate Brandon held for court Harry Grob, white, of 2150 Wylie avenue; Dr. John Cottam, 2173 Wylie avenue; Charles Walker, 2503 Hallett street; Lee Harley, 24 Emmett street, and R. Yets, 2136 Center avenue. The agents were held over.

Motion of Air and Landing On Rough Areas Result in Frequent Mishaps

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Commander Byrd maintains that the dangers of flying are not near so great as they are supposed to be. He believes that with reasonable perfection of equipment and training that is available today aviation is thoroughly safe. He describes two kinds of fatal airplane accidents. One kind is the result of experimental or pioneering work; the other from fliers whose planes lack proper repair and inspection facilities. He says that mankind had knowledge of mechanical flight long before the birth of Christ.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Injured When the America Crashed

CHAPTER III.

FEW people have any idea how many airplane accidents in the past have had nothing at all to do with the pilot or his machine. They were the sole result of the motion of the invisible air about him.

Nonfliers often fail to realize the impossibility of landing on rough areas. It can be readily understood if one should visualize an automobile with wings on it going nearly a mile a minute and landing in a field of rocks or ditches.

The Wrights had not been flying long before they recognized what are still termed "pockets" and "bumps" in the air.

These sensations which the pilot feels are the result of meeting currents of air flowing up and down. When the plane enters an up-current it is yanked upward, and the flier feels as if he had ridden over a bump. When entering a down-current he naturally goes down with it as long as it lasts, with the feeling that he is falling in a vacuum.

One of the best pilots in the world, who was flying across South America not long ago, nearly came to grief while leaving a small town located in a valley. He did not know that the air entering the valley with the afternoon winds fell from the heights of land in a regular Niagara Falls. The worst of it was, as always, that this vast Niagara of air was absolutely invisible.

It had to be discovered by the aeronautical pioneer.

When the pilot took off he fought his way upward for a long while, only to be carried downward with equal speed. He finally escaped, missing a fatal accident almost by inches.

Cross-Ocean Flight

A most terrible experience in my life was the 2,000 miles we spent storm-tossed in the America on our cross-ocean flight without seeing ground or water beath us, followed by hours of a similar experience in a storm at night over France.

I think my companions cheerfully subscribe to this statement. For over 24 hours of that flight we saw nothing whatever beneath us. I sincerely hope no other fliers ever have that experience.

Hour after hour the notations in my log of that journey declare it was utterly impossible to navigate. We could not tell which way the winds were blowing, which way we were drifting, or what sort of land or water was below us.

Our chief safety lay in watching our instruments closely so that we should not be carried so close to the surface of the land or sea that we might crash without warning. Had we done so we should have been killed instantly. Our lives hung on our altimeter.

As night closed in we could not even see the ends of our wings. At this critical time there was a leak in our gasoline tank.

I mention these points not to emphasize the hazards of such a flight, but because I wish to lay stress on the peculiar nature of the perils and show how far they were removed from normal conditions of flying.

We were traveling in a territory as new as the dreaded polar regions were to Hendrik Hudson and his tiny vessels four centuries ago.

Once when we fought our way above the fog around 10,000 feet we came out upon a weird view. Towering peaks of vapor surrounded us. Below was a gray murk that clutched at our plane. There was no horizon.

For 10 years prior to my trans-Atlantic flight I had been studying weather conditions over the North Atlantic.

In the course of these studies I learned many things that helped us on the way. However, it wasn't long after I hopped off for France that I discovered our information was still defective.

It is necessary that an ocean flier know meteorological conditions for each zone through which he will pass before his passage. He must know the barometric pressure and the temperature for various altitudes. Fog and cloud conditions are equally important.

Disturbances Studied

Study of air disturbances is a life work in itself. Gradually we are becoming more familiar with the general movements of those of the North Atlantic.

Already we know that the movement of storm centers is north and east, that storm areas are circular and that their movement is cyclonic; that is to say, anti-clockwise.

Often these storm areas overlap and sometimes they are elliptical. Sometimes they seem to contract or expand as they move. This is possibly because they come into contact with other similar disturbances.

On our first night after leaving Newfoundland we were flying in a fog until we climbed to an altitude of over a mile. The temperature fell as we mounted and ice began to form on our wings.

It was quite possible for us to take on enough ice to pull us down into the sea. Thus comes the need for advance information on fog area and depth not only from ships on the ocean, but also from aeroplanes flying at points along the flier's route.

Only in this way will it be possible to know whether one should try to climb beyond the clouds or to outflank the storm area.

When we first took the America up for test last spring we knew that she was an untried machine. We knew that there would be problems of balance and weight and landing speed that would have to be solved before she could be taken on a long flight.

After a few minutes in the air we started down. Floyd Bennett, Noville and I were up in the cockpit with Anthony Fokker, the designer, who was doing the piloting. Floyd and the rest of us were passengers.

When Fokker stopped the engine to come down for a landing we found that a combination of five or six things had made the America very nose heavy. We went up again but when Fokker finally tried to land we crashed. My arm was broken. Noville internally injured, and Bennett was smashed up so badly that he was in the hospital for months and out of the Atlantic flight.

The next day the following statement was made:

"It is patent from the accident to Byrd's plane that we as yet have far from reached any dependable safety in aviation."

This statement was altogether unfair to aeronautics. I mentioned the incident because it so effectively illuminates what friends of aviation are up against every day in the year.

The accident was to a truly experimental type of plane and under conditions that opened us all to risks that no passenger would ever be asked to face. Even the average pilot would not fly under such circumstances. Yet the safety of flying was impugned on the basis of our private test that bore but indirectly on practical aviation of the moment.

1 DEAD IN BLAST; 2 HURT

An explosion killed one man and injured two others yesterday, wrecking the United States Bureau of Mines chemical laboratory and explosive building at the government experimental station near Bruceton.

Fire followed the blast and soon the frame building in which the blast occurred was destroyed.

The dead man is Murray Riggs, 35, a laborer of Bruceton. The injured are Paul Guest, an assistant electrical engineer, of Wilkinsburg, and Robert Kennedy, 60, of Craftmont avenue, Crafton, a science aid. Riggs died in the Marine Hospital from burns. Guest received slight cuts.

Government officials have begun an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion. The three victims were the only ones in the building at the time and Kennedy and Guest so far have been unable to tell what occurred. H. P. Greenwalt, chemist in charge of the experimental station, said he will attempt to fix the cause today.

Will Rogers Says

MARFA, Tex., July 3, 1928.

See by the papers where Al Smith is going to make 16 speeches, all different. Now, offhand, that looks like a pretty hard thing to do, but it's not. You could put 16 different interpretations on the Democratic platform, and still not exhaust half the alibis.

And Hoover could speak incessantly on that Republican promissory note.

IF I WAS A POLITICIAN I WOULD PICK OUT ONE GOOD SPEECH AND STAY WITH IT.

Lindbergh only made one speech all over America, and is a hero yet. But if a politician was that smart he wouldn't be a politician.

TWO STOLEN IDOLS
MYSTERY! THRILLS! ADVENTURE! LOVE!!! by FRANK L PACKARD

Bob Hears the Story Of the Fight in Which His Uncle Was Killed

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of Tom Kingsley is picked up by Capt. "Scarface" Sweeney and his mate, Marlow, off Singapore. Tom's brother, Robert, also an old "sea dog," is notified of the death and receives articles found on the corpse. Among these are two small but handsomely carved Ivory Idols. Robert Kingsley has good reason to believe that Hsi Yan, an ancient enemy, has returned after 30 years to seek vengeance. The Idols are stolen and Young Bob starts out to recover them. Bob finds Java Dick in Singapore, who promises his help in solving the mystery. The Idol contains the key to a great fortune.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"SAHIB, they began to beat upon the doors, and to fire shots through them, for the wood was thin; and I gave to Kingsley Sahib one of the revolvers, and Kingsley Sahib and I, Mindar Singh, fired in return at the doors. But in our ears was always the laughter of Hsi Yan and the screaming of his voice as he taunted Kingsley Sahib. Sahib, could I forget his words?

"'The treasure is true and greater even than I have told you, Captain Tom,' he screamed at Kingsley Sahib; 'but it is one you will never have! And because it has brought about this hour, it is of greater worth to me, who will not have it either, than if I had carried it away from its hiding place. Did you think, because I have let the years go by, that I had forgotten, or that I would ever forget? Did you think that Hsi Yan would not keep his word? In my delirium on the junk I talked of the treasure I had found, and in the moments when my mind was clear and I was able to walk a little about the junk, I heard men talking when they thought I was not near, and I knew that I had babbled of the treasure, but had not told where it was hidden. So knowing that I would die of my illness, I found means of turning to account what they had heard, and I pretended delirium when my mind was clear, and I talked of Tom Kingsley of Kalawa, a man to whom I owed a great debt, and who would share the secret and the treasure with me. And then, at a time when they knew my mind was clear, I gave orders for the junk to steer for Kalawa. And they laughed behind my back. But I gave no sign that I knew I had spoken of the treasure. They would not come ashore and murder here only because I might so order them to do, but they would murder gladly if there were greed enough in their hearts — and their greed was now great. And gladly, too, they would have murdered me on the junk for the secret, but they knew they could not get it from me. And so I have brought them to Kalawa, and they have listened to the tale, as I meant that they should listen so that all doubt might be driven from their minds if any remained, and they have seen the idols, for they have been hiding out there where they could see and listen all the time—as I knew they would—and now they kill that they may possess the secret and silence the tongue of the only man who could tell of the treasure, for my life is already at an end. I am here, Captain Tom! I, Hsi Yan, am here at the end! Did I not say that some day I would come and watch you die?"

CHAPTER XLIII.

BOB KINGSLEY'S hands gripped at the table edge.

"Great God!" he whispered from between set teeth. "The vengeance of Hsi Yan! The man could have been born out of no other place than the pit of hell itself!"

"Sahib," said Mindar Singh with tightened lips, "it was in my mind that in very truth it was the devil who had come in disguise upon the earth. It has taken long to tell the words of Hsi Yan, but they seemed not long on the lips of Hsi Yan that night. Sahib, even while Hsi Yan spoke we were firing at the doors where those from the junk beat upon them. And Kingsley Sahib made no answer to Hsi Yan, save that once he turned his revolver upon the other, and it was in my mind that Hsi Yan's death would be hastened by the few minutes that the sickness might yet grant him before the end. But Kingsley Sahib did not fire. Instead, he swept the two white idols from the table to his pocket and upturned the table for a barricade, and from behind the table Kingsley Sahib and I, Mindar Singh, fired our shots at the doors.

"And now Hsi Yan lay without movement upon the couch, but I do not know if he were then already dead. And the attack grew still more fierce upon the doors, and the bullets came more thickly, and Kingsley Sahib spoke. 'They will come upon us from the other parts of the house in a little while, and we shall be cornered like rats,' he said. 'Run, then, Mindar Singh, into the next room, for I am wounded, and, while I hold these doors, push hard upon the middle panel of the three that are between the desk and the side wall. There is a door hidden there, but it has not been opened for many years, and it may not yield easily or at once, so push with all your strength. When you have got it open, let it be known to me, and in that way we will make our escape, for there is a passage below the ground that leads a long way from the house. Run, Mindar Singh, run—and work quickly.'

"Sahib, I ran then into the next room, and it was even as Kingsley Sahib said, for after great effort the panel swung inwards, though I, Mindar Singh, who had lived three years in the house of Kingsley Sahib, had in all that time been deceived by the panel, so cleverly was it contrived. Then I ran back to help Kingsley Sahib and to tell him that all was well, but even as I entered the room, I, too, was struck with a bullet, Sahib, and I fell upon my face on the floor, and for a space I knew nothing more."

"The bullet struck me here, Sahib; but it went not deep, or I should have died even as I fell. When my senses returned to me, the doors from the veranda had been broken down, and Hsi Yan lay dead upon the couch, and Kingsley Sahib was gone. And I looked and saw that the panel was closed again, and I was sure that Kingsley Sahib, even though his leg was wounded, had escaped. Sahib, my head lay in a pool of blood, and it is certain that Kingsley Sahib had thought me dead, because for no other reason would he have left me there unless it were that his wound had robbed him of the strength to move me. Likewise, the Chinamen from the junk when they broke into the room must also have thought me dead, for they had left me lying there where I had fallen.

I listened, then, Sahib, and outside the house I could hear the running about of many men and shouts, and more than once the sound of shots. Sahib, I knew they would return for Hsi Yan when their search was over. I got upon my feet, and went to the couch where Hsi Yan lay dead, for it was in my heart that there should be revenge for these things that had been done. And so, therefore, that the proof might remain for all men to see who it was that had brought this evil about, and the way be pointed out whereby the junk that had come should be known and those on her taken and brought before the law, I took the body of Hsi Yan and dragged it across the floor, into the other room, and opened again the panel, and put the body of Hsi Yan within, and I, Mindar Singh, entered too and closed the panel upon the dead man and upon myself.

"Sahib, I know not where the passage led, for faintness came upon me again at that moment, and I fell beside the body of Hsi Yan; but after a while, from behind the panel, I heard the men from the junk come back for Hsi Yan, and I heard them search throughout the house for a long time with many cries of anger and amazement, but they found not Hsi Yan. And then they went out of the house again; and, when there was no more sound, I, Mindar Singh, came out from behind the panel. I looked through a window to the sea, but, whether because of the darkness or because of the sickness in my head, I could not see the junk and I thought it had sailed away. Let the Sahib remember that my mind was sick, and that I could hardly stand upon my feet, and that I knew not wholly then what I did. Two thought whirled in confusion in my brain—that it should become known that it was Hsi Yan's junk that had brought this evil upon Kingsley Sahib's house; and that I should find Kingsley Sahib who was wounded. Sahib, had I been able to think clearly, doubtless I would first have gone in search of Kingsley Sahib, but, instead, I first dragged the body of Hsi Yan back, and laid it on the couch. Is it plain to the Sahib why I acted thus?"

Dicky Inadvertently Drops a Picture From His Pocket

KATHERINE was as good as her word. She drove down in the car with us to meet Dicky, an innovation which drew a puzzled look from Mother Graham, and she kept close to my side, giving Dicky no chance for a word alone with me until dinner was over.

"Beastly bores, those things," my husband growled at the first chance I gave him for speech. "You can just count me out."

I knew of course the reason for his choler—my mention of Philip Veritzen as host. Ordinarily Dicky is most enthusiastic over our beach picnics and prides himself upon his manipulation of the Pirate steak which is always the chief feature of the feast. But I kept a most discreet silence, I knew that no word of persuasion or expostulation from me was needed. His proposed dereliction would be attended to promptly and efficiently without any effort on my part. Indeed, the words were hardly out of his mouth before an outraged howl arose from Junior.

"Daddy!" he shrieked. "You're not going to stay away from the beach picnic!"

Dicky's mother took up the refrain and repeated it.

"Of course, you do not mean a word of that nonsense," she said severely, "so why do you upset your child by saying a thing like that? He has been looking forward to it for days. You may not care for it yourself—it does not particularly appeal to me either, but I know that it would upset the whole affair if one stayed at home, for you know Jim and Katie also go. I am always willing to sacrifice my own inclination, and you certainly can do the same."

I felt Katherine's eyes on my back, knew that they were brimming with mirth similar to that which was struggling for expression in my own face. For all of us know that Mother Graham would rather go to a beach picnic than to almost anything else. But she also revels in a martyr complex and exhibits it upon every possible occasion.

Dicky was beaten. I knew that as soon as his mother began her little diatribe, and he proved it a second later by saying in a curiously choked voice which I guessed smothered mingled annoyance and amusement:

"I ought to be willing to sacrifice as much as you, Mother. I'll go—Junior, if you ever do a thing like that again, I'll whack you. You almost made Mother ditch the car."

The threat was fully deserved. My quacking nerves acknowledged that. For Junior, in his exuberance at hearing his father's decision had jumped up from Dicky's knee, waving hir arms, and giving a shriek of joy. He had jolted my arm with such force that for an instant my hand was loosened from the steering wheel and I caught it just as it was dangerously swerving.

"You had better whack yourself," his mother commented icily. "If you hadn't excited the child, he never would have jumped like that."

"Step on it. Let's get home," Dicky muttered to me in a tone inaudible to his mother, and I obeyed him to such good purpose that we were at the farmhouse before Mother Graham had completed the "firstly" of her sermon on discipline.

Dicky hung his overcoat in the hall, first taking from an inside pocket a packet of letters and papers. It was not until after he had run upstairs to wash before dinner that I saw a square piece of paper lying at the foot of the stairs where he had dropped it. I picked it up for later delivery to him, and turning it over looked into the pictured face of Edith Fairfax.

New York's Most Beautiful Hands

They are the hands of Miss Annette Grandin, the most photographed hands in the world. They are so white and smooth that they can stand "close-up" reproduction. And here's the secret, according to Miss Grandin:

"I use no fancy or expensive lotions, but make a skin bleach of my own. I get three ounces of Orchard White at the corner druggist and mix it with the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkable, and at the same time perfectly harmless, bleach. I rub a little into my hands—also my neck and face—every night, and don't worry about freckles, tan or redness. This simple mixture not only keeps the skin clear and white, but luxuriously soft and smooth to the touch.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Finis Written on Summer Social Calendar as Marjorie Harbison Weds Wilmington, Del., Man

WITH Marjorie Harbison's wedding checked off the social calendar we face an appalling array of blank pages. It is no unusual thing, of course. July and August are always like that, with nearly all of our local folks at their summer homes, and the remainder quite naturally willing to enjoy a few weeks of quiet.

The wedding yesterday afternoon, when Marjorie Harbison married Walter Brooke Stabler, son of the Calab Stablers, of Wilmington, Del., was a truly beautiful affair in the Sewickley Presbyterian Church. The altar had been decorated for the occasion with huge bowls of gladioli, banked against masses of palms and ferns.

Marjorie, you know, is the daughter of the Ralph W. Harbisons, of Sewickley, and she was given away by her father. She wore a short frock of white lace over flesh-colored satin, with a long court train of white silk falling from her shoulders. A bandeau of rose point held her tulle veil in place, and she carried lilies of the valley.

Her uncle's wife, Mrs. Erdman Harris, and Mrs. Elliott Bates, of New York, were the matrons of honor, and Barbara Book, of Sewickley, was the maid of honor. They were all dressed alike in sleeveless frocks of blue tulle, made with tulle capes falling just below the shoulders. Their hats were of blue horsehair braid, with long streamers of blue satin ribbons. They carried blue delphinium, forget-me-nots and other summer flowers, tied with blue taffeta ribbons.

Helen Harris, of New York; Eleanor Harris, of Toronto, and Grace Clarke and Betty Wray, both Sewickley girls, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were of tulle, too, but in a deeper shade of blue, with hats to match. Their flowers were pink roses and delphinium.

The best man was Laird Stabler, brother of the bridegroom, and the list of ushers included William Laird, Jr., of Wilmington; Moss and Walter Gray, of Richmond, Va.; Leslie Glenn and Watt Henry Tyler, of New York; Elliott Randolph, of Warrenton, Va.; Joseph Chim, of Charlottesville, Va.; Harris Harbison and Samuel P. Harbison, Marjorie's brothers.

The ceremony was performed by Marjorie's uncle, the Rev. Dr. Erdman Harris, of Cairo, Egypt, assisted by the Rev. Dr. James A. Kelso and the Rev. Dr. Owen D. Odell, the latter pastor of the church. A short musical program was given by Arthur B. Jennings, Jr., organist; Ferdinald Fillion, violinist, and Oscar Helfenbein, pianist.

After the ceremony there was a reception and dinner at the house, with covers laid for 36 at the bridal table. Mrs. Harbison wore a gown of cream lace over pale pink, with a white hat, while Mrs. Stabler's gown was of lavender with hat to match. Marjorie's grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Harbison, of Bellevue, wore gray crepe with a black hat.

The young Stablers have left for a trip, and their "at home" plans have not been announced as yet.

Dividends Showing During Half Year Very Favorable.

By B. C. FORBES

THE dividend record for the first half of the year is very favorable. No fewer than 619 improved dividend announcements have been made since January 1. This compares with 528 for the first half of last year and 473 two years ago, the compilations made for this column show.

The June total, 163, ran ahead of last year and was, in fact, the best since December, always the banner month.

Unfavorable action was taken last month by 19 companies, the same number as in June of last year.

THE feature of this half year's showing is the very great increase in the number of companies making their first appearance as dividend payers. Initial dividends in the first six months of last year totaled 98, whereas this year they have reached 178. Were this gain of 80 to be deducted from the total favorable dividends declared this year, the 1928 lead would be reduced to 11.

It may be significant that there has been a pronounced tendency this year for boards of directors to declare extra payments rather than to increase their regular rates. Extra disbursements can, of course, be withheld at any time without causing nearly as much comment as would be caused were a regular dividend rate be reduced. The extras declared during the last six months have reached the record breaking total of 259, against 212 last year, but the increased payments this year, 84, compare with 96 a year ago. This suggests that numbers of corporations have found themselves in a position to make a larger payment at this time, but do not feel certain that they can continue regularly to pay more than their established rate.

THE following table classifies the cheerful dividend announcements made by industrial, utility and railway companies during the last six months:

STOCK dividends have been less in favor this year than last year, the comparative totals being 62 for this year and 72 for last year. Fewer companies have paid off back dividends this year. Also, not as many companies have resumed payments this half year as felt justified in doing so last year.

THE following table summarizes the improved dividend declarations made month by month since the end of 1923:

	'28	'27	'26	'25	'24

WHAT of the dividend outlook?

We can count upon the continuance of an improved showing of newcomers, mainly because of the many companies recently formed, including investment trusts. It is less certain that older enterprises will be able to make any markedly better showing in the current six months than they made in the last six months or in the second half of last year. The present prospects is neither unusually favorable nor unusually unfavorable from a dividend point of view.

The second will be influenced to some extent by events in the stock market. Corporation directors who operate heavily in the stock market are sometimes opposed to declaring any better dividend rate when stocks are in doldrums, on the theory that it would be more or less wasted ammunition. It is proverbial that even an unexpectedly generous dividend announcement has relatively little effect upon the quotation for a stock when a downward movement is in progress, whereas the same news would have an immediate and pronounced effect during a rising market.

ON the whole, dividend prospects are at least moderately satisfactory.

SHARES SOAR AS LOAN RATE DROPS

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—Passing of the temporary credit stringency, which was reflected in the easing of call money from the renewal rate of 8 to 6 per cent, was the signal for another bullish demonstratoin in today's stock market. Early losses of 1 to 4 points were wiped out, and converted into substantial gains ranging from 1 to 5 points in the popular rails and industrials, and from 6 to 13 points in a few high priced rails and specialties.

Ten per cent call money yesterday attracted a huge influx of funds here from interior cities and European capitals with the result that the call money renewal rate was fixed at 8 per cent. It dropped to 7 before midday and to 6 by early afternoon. New York bank clearings today broke all records with a turnover of $2,413,000,000. Time money and commercial paper rates held fairly steady.

Weekly steel trade reviews reported a further seasonal reduction in output, but pointed out that the demand was being maintained at relatively high levels and that commodity prices held firm. Reports of record-breaking gasoline consumption and reduced crude oil output, and expectations of higher dividends on some of the copper shares, all helped to create bullish enthusiasm.

Covering by "bear" traders, who sold stocks yesterday, was an important factor in the day's advance.

Radio dropped two points to 175 in the early trading and then rebounded to 186¼ by early afternoon. Case Threshing rallied from 333 to 345. International Harvester soared 9 points, Dupont 5, and American International, American Republics, General Motors and Montgomery-Ward sold four points or more above yesterday's final quotations. Atlantic Refining advanced more than four points to 141½, the highest since 1923. Crucible Steel was conspicuously heavy, sagging nearly four points to 69¼, the lowest since 1926.

Outside of a 13-point jump in Texas & Pacific to a new record high for all time at 168, there were few changes of importance in the rail group.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP.)—Influenced by a halt in export demand for wheat from North America and by favorable weather Southwest and Northwest alike, wheat prices averaged lower today. Russia was apparently not buying today, but cables expressed belief that wheat purchasing for Russia would shortly be resumed. One foreign estimate placed Russian wheat purchases in Europe so far at 7,400,000 bushels.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝c net lower to ⅝c advance; corn, ½c to 2½c up; oats, ¼c off to ⅝c gain, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 20c.

With clear skies and seasonable temperatures in Kansas and Nebraska, with prospects of continuance making improved conditions for harvest, bulls found themselves at a decided disadvantage much of the time today. Meanwhile, reports were at hand that cutting of wheat in Nebraska was now in full blast south and west of Lincoln and in a few days would be general.

Auspicious crop advices from spring wheat states today were supplemented by estimates that the Canadian prairie provinces would yield 455,000,000 bushels this season, compared with 413,000,000 bushels last year. A typical dispatch regarding the domestic spring crop said that from Yankton to Mitchell, S. D., wheat was a fair crop, just going into milk stage, and would apparently soon be out of danger.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Money Rates Easier.

Money conditions continued to dominate the market today, but as the tension eased with a decline in the call loan rate from 8 to 5 per cent there was a resumption of bullish activities in several stocks which had been noticeably strong before money started the advance which reached its peak in a 10 per cent call rate yesterday. The opening rate of 8 per cent was the highest for renewals in several years, but, aside from a little scattered selling in the early trading, the market withstood the condition admirably. Later, when strong buying appeared in some of the speculative favorites and cornered stocks, such as Texas and Pacific, Pullman, Harvester, Atlantic Refining, Atlantic Gulf and others, the general list responded with a moderate improvement. Easing of the call money rate was attributed to return of a portion of the mid-year dividend and interest payments made over the week-end, and also to the fact that banks felt free to increase their lendings now that the bank calls have been made as of June 30. Some of the tightness in the money market over the past few days has undoubtedly been due to the window dressing activities of the banks in preparation for the bank call.

Mitchell on Money Outlook.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of National City Bank, New York, says that while he believes the present credit situation is basically sound, despite the high call money, he can see a dangerous trend in continued excessive speculation which has swept the country in recent months. The present money stringency, he said, was due primarily to failure of corporations and many banks to prepare for July 1 dividend and interest disbursements at this time, which necessitated huge rediscounting operations by larger institutions to meet these needs. Mr. Mitchell looks for no material easing in the money situation immediately, due to danger of renewed speculation which would result in higher broker loans.

Investment Conditions.

Invesement buying in the next few weeks is counted upon to become a factor in the standard dividend payers. Investors seeking employment for excess funds are likely to take up bonds, preferred stocks and some of the higher grade common shares. If the latter stocks are well supplied during this period of buying it will be considered an indication of liquidation by investment trusts and others who have held these securities from materially lower levels. For this reason the action of the market will be watched closely during the normal period of investment demand.

This represented an addition of only 712,000 barrels to storage in May, against 3,113,000 in April. Gasoline stocks on May 31 totaled 37,336,000 barrels, equal to 34 days' supply, as against 40,210,000 in April, equal to 40 days' supply, and 48,609,000 on May 31, 1927, equal to 40 days' supply.

H. S. Goodyear Rubber Prospects.

"The outlook of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company is for considerably better results for the last six months of 1928 than those in the first half of the year," said P. W. Litchfield, president, sailing for a month's business trip to England. "The company's plants are all operating and current production and sales are running at a satisfactory rate."

The poor showing in the first six months, Mr. Litchfield said, was due to the depreciation in crude rubber inventory and the lowering of the price on the finished products. Earnings during the third and fourth quarters, he said, should reflect improvement.

Regarding the question whether inventory and commitments would be written down as of June 30, Mr. Litchfield said no definite action would be taken until he returned from abroad but that doubtless a portion, if not all, would be written down at that time.

Less Pressure on Rubbers.

There are indications that forced liquidation in some of the rubber stocks is nearing its end. This is true particularly of Goodrich and Goodyear, both of which have been meeting somewhat improved buying and short covering recently. It is well known that the statements of the rubber concerns for the first half of the year will be somewhat disappointing when compared with estimates made early in the year. Losses will be shown because of write-offs on inventories, etc. Improvement is expected for the last half of the year. Some scale buying in anticipation of this betterment has been coming into the leading stocks.

Erie Makes Good Showing.

Based on first 5 months showing, it is estimated net income of Erie Railroad for first six months will approximate $2,000,000, equal to over $6 a share on the first preferred stock or 1½ times dividend needs for a full year. If the issue were on a dividend basis, allowing for only dividends at the rate of 4 per cent annually on the first and second preferred issues, net income would be equal to $1.14 a share on the common. In the first half of 1927, net income was $937,155, or $1.96 a share on the first preferred.

STOCKS DISPLAY FIRM TONE; QUIET TRADING HERE

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

CALL money renewed at 7½% yesterday and moved upward to 10% before the close of business. A rate of 8% was reached on Friday, the highest since June, 1921. The stock market showed continued strength until the rate reached its peak after which there was some selling.

The general prevalence of a bullish attitude is now surprising in the face of present expensive money, while a short time ago 6½% money caused considerable uneasiness. Traders appear to have again revised their standards of what constitutes a dangerous market. The belief is general that another precedent has been thrown into limbo along with other old rules which the long-lived bull market has ignored.

ONE factor which undoubtedly has helped to maintain strength during the past few days is that the peak demand for funds encountered July 1 requirements for interest and dividend payments and for maturities of about $260,000,000, accentuating the flurry in money rates.

When these funds have reached investors' hands and a large share of them has been reinvested the stringency of money will be lessened.

IN spite of this it seems likely that a fairly high rate for money for stock exchange purposes will continue. Call money has been advancing in the face of reductions in brokers' loans of $400,000,000 in the past three weeks.

There is little doubt but that the Federal Reserve Bank is engaged in a definite campaign to curb speculation by reducing the funds available for carrying stocks.

FOR the past six months the 12 Federal Reserve Banks have been selling their United States government securities and reducing their purchases of bills on the open market in order to restrict the supply of money available. At the same time, to restrain the borrowing by the member banks, the Federal Reserve Banks have increased the rediscount rate from 3½ to 4½.

The rediscount operations of the 12 banks declined $50,000,000 to a total of $991,000,000 from June 13 to June 20 after a steady increase during the year of over half a billion dollars.

Since the beginning of the year the Federal Reserve Banks' holdings of government securities have declined over $400,000,000 to a present level of $223,000,000.

WHILE it is true that in a market with fluctuation of several points a day, the mere matter of paying 10% for call money does not act as much of deterrent to speculation, the present money rates indicate an unsound condition.

The present bull market may not reach its termination for some time; call money rate of 25% was reached before the 1920 break; but it is an indication that extreme caution should be exercised. When it costs 10% to borrow money to carry stocks yielding only about 5%, a dangerous condition of inflation in prices has been reached.

CONSERVATIVE bankers are of the opinion that the Federal Reserve Bank is operating in an entirely legitimate manner in trying to stop the speculative wave which has swept the country.

If allowed to continue unbridled the expansion in prices might be so great that the severity of the inevitable reaction would approach panic proportions.

THE unfortunate side light to the work of reducing speculation is that legitimate enterprise is also being curtailed.

When the natural commercial demands of the country are small, when business activity is in a dull period, and when it should be given all the banking encouragement possible, an artificial tightness in money rates has been created.

It is to be hoped that the undesirable condition of the stock market can be speedily corrected so that business will not have to be hampered for too long a period.

PRICE CHANGES ARE NARROW

Prices followed a narrow and noticeably even course on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with volume of business about the same as yesterday. The strong market in New York, resulting from the lowering of rates on call money, was not reflected in the local dealings.

Armstrong Cork continued to change hands at or near 57, the price to which it sank a few days ago and which it has held to in recent markets despite the announcement that the company had obtained a favorable decision in an important patent suit last Friday. The litigation involved the manufacture of inlaid linoleum and Friday's decision was a reversal of findings by a lower court several months ago.

Brewing issues were quiet again today, but prices were steady to firm. This group enjoyed a mild flurry last week as a result of Gov. Smith's nomination as Democratic presidential candidate, the buying being based, of course, on the theory that Smith's activities in relation to the beverage question will be directed toward the elimination of the present situation, regarded as unsatisfactory by many people, especially in the large cities.

Money Market.

LONDON, July 3.—(AP.)—Bar silver 27⅜d per ounce; money, 2⅝ per cent; discount rates, short bills, 3¾@3 11-16 per cent; three months, 3¾ per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened today at a decline of 14 to 26 points, but almost immediately weakened further under heavy general liquidation or selling inspired by the bearish view of yesterday's bol weevil report, favorable weather advices from the South and relatively weak Liverpool cables.

Stop orders were uncovered on the decline, which carried the price of October off to 22.10c, or 35 points net lower and 77 points above the recent high level. Trade buying and covering at this figure steadied the market and caused rallies of a few points by the end of the first hour.

Private cables said there had been local, Manchester and continental liquidation in Liverpool on the bearish weevil report and that cloth sales were only scattered owing to distrust of current prices.

The decline extended to 22.02c for October after the publication of the weather forecasts, which were considered favorable. There was more trade buying on the break of about 40 to 43 points from yesterday's closing quotations, and the market steadied up later in the morning, on covering. At midday trading was quieter with the active months showing net declines of about 29 to 34 points.

ALCOHOL, NOT FOUL PLAY, BLAMED IN MAN'S DEATH

The death of David O. Kemp, 29, of 7235 Susquehanna street, who expired at Pittsburgh Hospital, was caused by acute alcoholic gastro enteritis, it was announced at the morgue this morning. Kemp, bruised and semi-conscious, was admitted to the hospital yesterday. The bruises led the homicide squad to investigate foul play theories.

SEIZED LIQUOR TAKEN FROM U. S. WAREHOUSE

ERIE, Pa., July 3.—Federal officers are investigating the disappearance of 75 cases of whisky from a government warehouse in Erie. The liquor had been seized near Erie by coast guardsmen. Two heavy locks on a reinforced door were wrecked.

DONORA AND CHARLEROI DANCERS STAGGER ON

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 3.—Marathon dancers at Charleroi and Donora have passed the 200 hour mark and apparently are going strong. Three couples are still in motion at Donora, where the dance is being conducted as an American Legion benefit. Five couples are dancing away at Charleroi in a volunteer fire department benefit.

STEEL SHIPPING HOLDING UP

The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade on Thursday will say:

Independence Day week, as is customary, will see a reduction of activity, but it will be reflected in plant operations rather than in demand. Mills have less contract tonnage than at the opening of the second quarter, but the volume of shipping orders in both releases against past commitments and short-term purchases is holding up well.

At Chicago, bookings for the week were the fourth largest of the year and backlogs increased in virtually all lines except rails and sheets.

In other districts, buying is more cautious, but without materially reducing the total tonnage reaching the mills for rolling. Releases against expiring contracts for plates, shapes and bars at 1.85c, Pittsburgh, will cover the needs of many consumers through July.

Mill operations are less dependent than formerly on large individual orders, but the maturing of several pipe lines after months of negotiation has added a substantial tonnage to the large volume of business coming from miscellaneous sources. For four pipe lines a total of 175,000 tons of steel was ordered during the week, following the placing of 50,000 tons two weeks ago.

The automotive industry continues to take a large tonnage of steel and as yet shows no signs of a sharp summer slump. June specifications for motor car builders were only slightly smaller than in May.

Don Herold forewards the following idyl from the Fairmount, Indiana, News—

May has its warm days.
Grass grows, flowers bloom,
You look for the moon,
For dinner at noon,
Then for the "Lawn mower."

Come, get one from Jay,
That Eclipse lawn mower,
It's a goer, if you push.
It cuts grass; today; Jay.

Eclipse Prophet and The Lady
Lawn mowers bob the grass.
Wood and steele beds, chairs,
For up or down stairs.

Don't go out of town
If you wish to lie down.
It's as easy to come pay
A few dollars to I. J.
Take a bed home as your own.

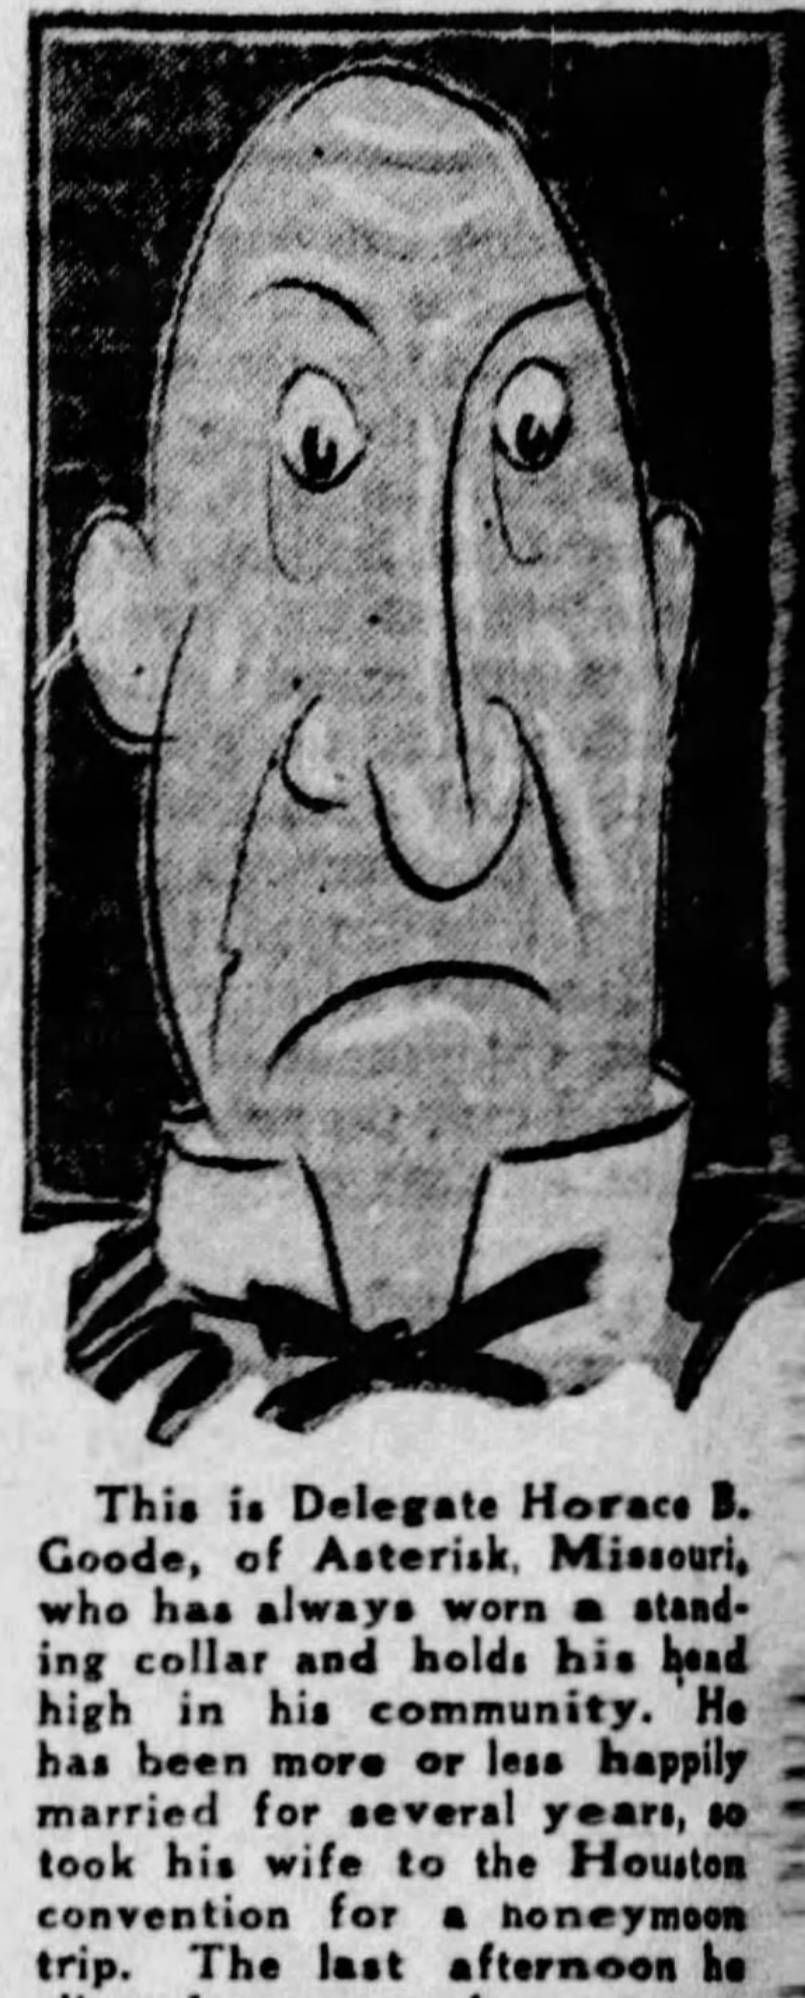
WHO WAS WHO AT CONVENTION



This is Delegate Horace B. Goode, of Asterisk, Missouri, who has always worn a standing collar and holds his head high in his community. He has been more or less happily married for several years, so took his wife to the Houston convention for a honeymoon trip. The last afternoon he slipped away and went to a movie show. In the dark he accidentally grasped the hand of a lady who sat next to him. They got acquainted, and when the lights went on the delegate discovered it was his wife.

I want, through The Signal, to think all who were so kind and thoughtful of me during my recent illness, also those who sent me pretty flowers and nice trays. No names were kept of either of these and I don't know who to thank personally. I also want to tell you I didn't fall off of anything. I was on the floor, my ankle must have given way and I fell on the floor on my right shoulder and arm, which is now improving nicely.

Sane Observance Stamps Us as Worthy Americans

Celebrating the one hundred and fifty-second birthday of our independence as a nation, The Sun-Telegraph will join others in a holiday tomorrow. It will observe the Glorious Fourth by not publishing on Independence Day.

The Sun-Telegraph, in wishing that all will have a pleasant and joy-filled holiday, cannot refrain from calling attention to the skeleton at the feast. Death has ever stalked the observance of our greatest national holiday. Formerly fireworks, alone, took the far too great toll of life and property and that feature still continues a terrible factor. To it has been added automobiles and drowning accidents.

While it is hoped the reference to this matter will not dampen the ardor of anyone, or prevent a solitary person from the fullest enjoyment of the day, it is well to remember that caution and care do not detract from the pleasure in prospect, but do assure that memories of the day will be joyous instead of grievous.

We are proud of our heritage of "the spirit of '76" and we are proud of the land for which our forefathers shed their blood. We know that same spirit is not on the surface at all times, but that it is in our hearts, so we properly celebrate the Fourth with all appropriate festivity. The very fact that we make the national birthday a holiday is sufficient evidence of patriotism and the more sanely we celebrate the more worthy we are as true Americans.

Death of Rody Marshall Ends Conspicuous Career

Rody Patterson Marshall is no more. Death has ended a colorful, active career and removed from the Allegheny county bar its most picturesque figure. A native of the city in which his service made him an outstanding attorney at law from the days of his youth, Rody Marshall was a big man in specialized legal practice, much of it having been as defending lawyer in criminal cases.

Mr. Marshall had the reputation of being a winner. Behind that reputation was a record of hard work. His passing leaves a peculiar void in legal ranks which likely never will be exactly filled, since his skill, like that of a great general, was of an individual character that perishes with the departure of those who originate methods and put them into force.

Golden Days Come Back With Playground Season

With the reporting for duty of the force of swimming pool guards and recreational directors, the playgrounds of Pittsburgh are officially open with the early days of July. True, the young fellows have been using the baseball diamonds in preparing themselves to step into the place of Babe Ruth, and the smaller children have been using such parts of the recreational centers as are allotted to them. And we presume some of the boys have been "rushing" the swimming season by taking dips in the water unguarded even if the weather has been cool.

But these have been pre-season activities and the official playground period now begins, with the laying aside of books and the symbolic slate and pencil of school days. Now really begin the golden days of vacation, days which the oldster looks back to with a longing that never will be satisfied. They are days of fullness of the life of youth, and our efforts to give to the children the things we enjoyed, and which the encroachment of city existence might deprive them of, is among the finest things we do.

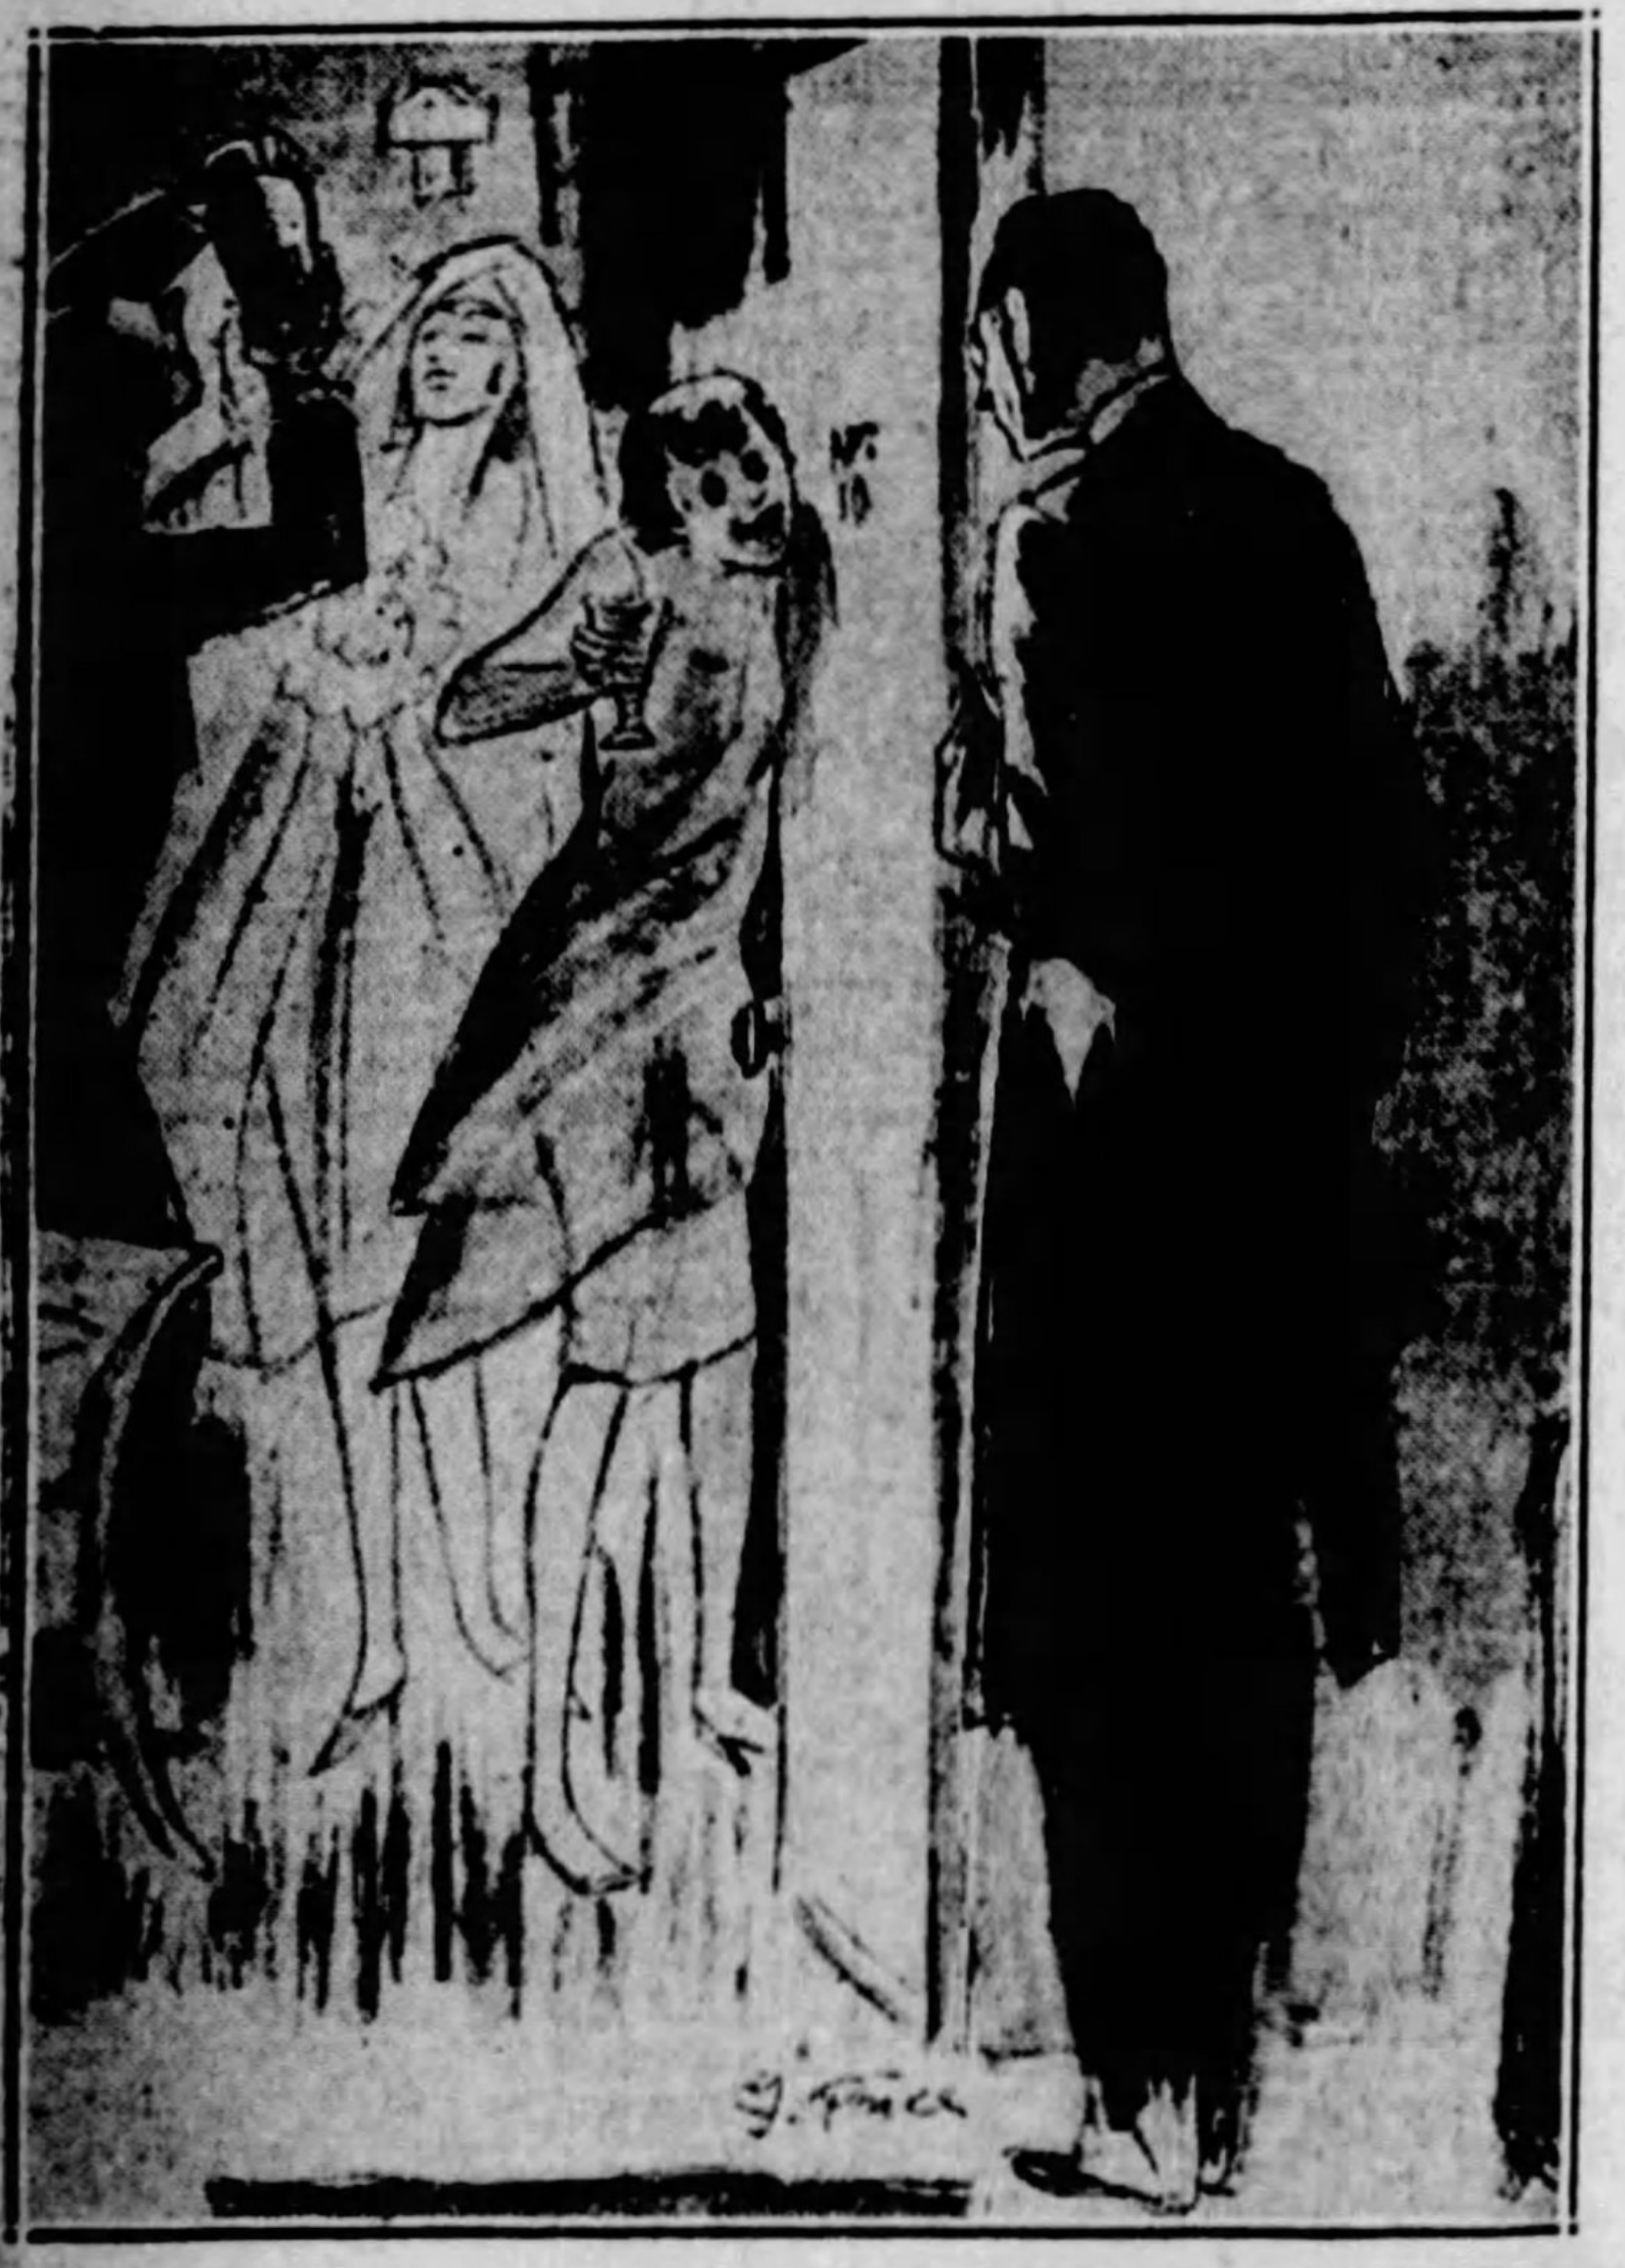
And NOT So Pretty.



"I KNOW WHO YOU ARE—YOU'RE THE MINISTER!"

This picture, published in the spirited New Yorker, is an unpleasantly accurate picture of modern life of A CERTAIN KIND.

The clergyman arrives to marry the happy couple. One little bridesmaid, on her third or fourth cocktail, greets him at the door and proves her intelligence by identifying him.

In the background you see the bride and the "life of the party" "shaking up a few more."

This isn't exactly as bad as ancient Rome. There will be some headaches, perhaps a little wood alcohol poisoning, and the next generation, following this wedding, has no special cause for congratulations.

But while this isn't ancient Rome or absolute decadence, it IS a rather sad view of Modern life.

Short skirts, short morals, bootleg liquor, contempt for law, marriage looked upon as a temporary arrangement, "NOT SO GOOD," as Mr. "Julie" Noyes would say.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Saving the Birds

AT A recent congress of ornithologists, countries of the Balkan Peninsula entered into a general agreement with the other leading nations for the systematic protection of migratory birds. The Balkan Peninsula, like Italy, constitutes one of the routes by which birds make their way, according to the seasons, between Europe and Africa, crossing the Mediterranean where the traverse is most convenient. The almost uninterrupted line of the two Americas offers, on our side of the world, another, a perhaps still more favorable path for the migratory tribe of the air.

Efforts by the lovers and students of the birds and bird-life have long been made to bring about a world-wide system for the protection of the little emigrant-immigrants who learned, ages ahead of man, the desirability of following the periodical north and south swing of the sun, carrying summer on its advance and leaving winter in its wake.

There are traces of an ancient geological origin of this interesting habit of the birds. It may be an inherited memory, dating back to the days of the great glacial invasions, when the living forms of the north temperate zone were chased toward the tropics and the equator by the vast advancing ice sheets. On the retreat of the ice, the birds and other animals, together with many plants, moved northward again. As there were several successive ice periods, separated by warm intervals of thousands of years, the birds, in particular, may have acquired the habit of alternate northward and southward migrations.

A fascinating memorial of this has been noted in the small fauna and flora of the upper part of Mount Washington, New Hampshire, where it is said that certain Arctic forms which migrated southward in the last glacial period, were caught unawares by the retreat of the ice, and thus left behind on the cool summit of the mountain as if on a semi-Arctic isle in the midst of the temperate zone, when the surrounding country below recovered from the glacial depression of temperature.

Many people appear to be insensitive to the aesthetic charm arising from the presence of birds as companions of man. Too many look upon them as good flying marks for shotguns. Some confirmed bird-shooters are indignant when their "sport" is interfered with. I knew, once, a gentleman who evidently denounced a law officer for preventing his young sons from shooting songbirds. He said he wanted his boys to learn to shoot quickly, and there were no better marks for them to practice upon than useless birds in the fields and on the fences. But love of the beauty and music of birds is a taste that may be acquired even by those not born with it, while plenty of moving and difficult marks for shooters can be found without slaughter of the little inhabitants of the air, where graceful forms and emotions should alone be enough to insure their protection. Besides, birds are man's most effective allies in the only serious war that he has to wage with other inhabitants of his planet, that namely with insect hordes, his true rivals for the mastery of the earth.

Symbolic

THE clause in the Volstead act requiring that contraband liquor be destroyed is curiously at variance with business judgment and common sense.

The other day a band of customs inspectors discovered on a tug in a New York harbor, and seized, what purported to be $100,000 worth of smuggled rum.

We have no knowledge as to its quality. If it was designed for the American bootleg trade, it was probably bad. If good, there are many hospitals in which it could have been put to a legitimate and beneficial use.

It is almost impossible for the sick who need pure alcoholic liquors for medicinal purposes to get them at any price. Many physicians who believe in the therapeutic value of such liquors and know of no adequate substitutes have been driven to abandon the prescription of champagne, wines and whisky because unwilling to take chances with the concoctions on the market.

There is also the industrial [illegible] to which these captured stores of contraband alcohol might be diverted after being made unavailable for beverage use.

American business spends millions yearly to discover means of averting wastes. Yet American law says that all the values in contraband rum shall be deliberately wasted.

The destination announced for this latest cache of intoxicants is the already polluted waters of the harbor.

It seems a stupid one. But fittingly symbolic of the entire Volstead system.

Drive That Frown Away

WHEN you accept an auto ride from one of the home folks how do you look on the back seat?

Are you weary and bored, or have you the decency to look pleasant?

How do you suppose it affects the driver to get your eye occasionally through the little glass in front and realize that all the world driving by can see that you have a grouch?

It may be that brother, sister, father or mother may know that your expression is not always as indicative of ill-temper as it looks.

You may be blessed with a sober countenance.

But if you want to be truly gracious to your companions, even though they be relatives, you might brighten up a bit and look pleasant.

You won't be run into, wrecked or otherwise molested if you should happen to look happy when you are out.

You don't have to look sour to keep the driver on his own side.

It might make the one at the wheel a little more careful to avoid the bumps in the road that he would just as soon give you when you look so soggy and cross.

The grouchy back-seat occupant is next to the one who drives from that position.

Wings

THERE are bright wings on which I rise,
Like long-caged bird that gains release,
To soar into the tranquil skies,
To skim the azure fields of peace.

Simplicity and faith, the wings
Which ever higher, higher soar
Until all earth-bound, sordid things
Can mar the spirit's joy no more.

Simplicity and faith, the wings
That only childlike souls can wear;
Of greater worth than pomp of kings
And of all lovely things most fair.

There are bright wings by which I gain
The cloud-crowned summits of delight,
And, after long desire, attain
The rapture of untrammeled flight.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

WHEN the dad went off on a trip he told his wife, in front of Willie, "Now, if Willie is mean while I'm gone, just you use a switch on him."

"I promise you that's just what I'll do."

So when the dad came home and asked how everything went, Willie says, "Oh, we got along all right, and we were all good but mamma. She broke her promise."

"What do you mean?"

"She promised to use a switch on me, you know."

"Yes, and she tells me she used it, too."

"Well, she's made a big mistake, Pa. That there wasn't a switch. It was a tree."

Money for Nothing

TWO boys visited a doctor's surgery. They had no sooner closed the door than one of them placed his hand over his ear and jumped around, first on one foot and then the other, exclaiming, "There he goes; there he goes!"

When asked what was the matter, he said he had an insect in his ear.

With a concave mirror the doctor threw a bright light through the ear speculum. The insect saw the light, crawled out to the edge of the speculum, and the doctor picked it off with his fingers.

"How much is it?" asked the boy.

He was told $3.

The other boy, who had been watching the proceedings, exclaimed: "Three dollars! Why, that's a bit stiff. You never took out that insect. It walked out."

It Didn't Matter

AT THE end of the eighth round the badly bruised boxer thought that he had had enough of it for one evening.

The seconds did not agree with him, however, and declared that he still stood a chance.

"But," pleaded the boxer in a tired voice, "I can 'ardly see 'im."

"Never mind," said one of the seconds cheerfully, "'it 'im from memory."

Another Abnormality

THE health inspector was paying a hurried visit to a very overcrowded school.

He rushed hither and thither from room to room as if he had barely time to breathe—altogether an astonishing sight.

"Are there any abnormal children in this class?" he asked one harassed teacher.

She nodded briefly.

"Particulars?" he snapped.

"There are two with good manners," answered the teacher.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 3.—The little alley theaters were no great shakes this season. They spawned chiefly dramatic piffle, which is a bigger blow to the drama than most of us think. For these thin-skinned experimentalists have been responsible for much rich, fruity theatrical stuff in the past.

Many of the enterprises presented in a barn-like atmosphere with gunny-sack curtains, coal oil lamps and back-breaking abandoned church pews have gone up town to dazzle Times Square and throw dramatic critics into conniptions of extravagant frenzy.

It is possible Eugene O'Neill would be sulking somewhere or other today had it not been for his chance in the dank cellars of Greenwich Village. The obscure dramatic tinkerers saw his dramatic possibilities, whereas the Rialto permitted him the luxury of cooling his heels in outer offices.

The Theater Guild, which has been responsible for so many dramatic "smashes," is a product of this scavenging among the theatrical dump-heaps. It was able to salvage talent and genius out of what supposedly wiser heads looked upon as rubbish.

The Guild has expanded and taken its rightful place in the sun, but there are three other quixotic experimenting stations that carry on—the Provincetown Players on Macdougal street; the New Playwrights' Theater on Commerce street, and the American Laboratory Theater, the latter an abandoned brewery.

There is something wistful and pathetic about the efforts to dredge a little beauty and truth out of the muck, to raise a lily in the bog, as it were. Here are at least people who have a positive yearning for art and realize there are despairing and thwarted Edgar Allen Poes in every age.

They have cradled much mediocre talent and twaddle along with genius, but considering the seemingly hopeless material with which they have had to work, it is not surprising. Even had they only discovered an O'Neill and a Lee Simonson, they have justified their existence.

Broadway below Fourteenth street, at midnight is a curious metropolitan phenomenon. In an eight-block walk I saw only two people—a lonesome corner policeman and a young girl hurrying over a cross street as though frightened. You feel it would be an elegant place for skulduggery. A lone wayfarer is astonished at the reverberating click of his own heels. If he is timid there is an inclination to escape on the run from the shadowy arabesques. It is impossible to believe in all the midnight desolation that in a few hours the street and sidewalks will be geysers of human activity.

* * *

The old Broadway Central seems the last hotel to hold out against the northwest migration of down town hotels. A clerk told me people stop in there every day to see what was once known all over the world as "the grand stairway." This was the scene of the Fisk-Stokes murder and has given it an added historical significance. The Broadway Central is the only hotel left where patrons sit in chairs at the curb on warm summer evenings.

A few blocks eastward I mounted the steps to a public dance hall—50 cents admission and five dance tickets. An odd conglomeration of humanity is attracted, chiefly low-salaried working people who must be on their feet all next day.

One of the "hostesses" was a hat check girl in an uptown night club. "My night off—just picking up a little extra change," she volunteered. There was an overtone of Japanese and Chinese sports in Occidental clothes, and one young blood who looked as though he might be a Park avenuer on the loose for the evening.

But most of the girls come there to dance with strangers and be "picked up." The director was a gaudily habited and oily-haired Italian, the type you read about in white slave stories who ship unsuspecting maidens to Rio.

Passport Nuisance

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The great problem of the future is to abate government.

Any government naturally tends to be a nuisance.

For several reasons.

First, it is essentially second-class business and attracts second-class minds. For it is only maintaining order. All governors, including kings, presidents and office holders generally, are in fact nothing but a kind of policemen.

The first-class people are they who produce.

It has always been the fault of rulers to magnify their office. The fly on the cowcatcher thinks he is running the locomotive.

Louis the Fourteenth, the lecherous old humbug, who best typified the ruler of the Old Order, exclaimed, "The State? I am the State!"

That is the average officeholder's point of view.

Wars are caused by this pestiferous vanity.

Restrictions on trade, which are the roots of war, spring from the same ground.

Their principal effect is to Meddle with the hard-working people who are producing, to Meddle with the Natural Laws of Business which if let alone would work out the greatest amount of prosperity to the greatest number.

One of the most flagrant instances right now observable of the power of government to make useless trouble in the Passport System.

There never was any use for it except to multiply fees and official busybodies and interfere with the normal flow of travel between nations.

Such travel ought to be encouraged, not hindered. For it is the salvation of the race, just as provincialism or staying at home is its curse. Travel broadens, softens, ameliorates the petty prejudices and ignorances that are the seeds of war.

A European newspaper recently said: "The futility of the whole passport system as a measure of precaution against the unrestricted movements of undesirables has again been amply proved by the discovery that passports and other identity papers with proper official checks and controls are being manufactured wholesale at most of the important revolutionary centers in Europe."

Travel and Trade need stimulating, not repressing.

Virtue's Silent Power

THERE is a bit of splendid eloquence in De Quincey's description of the burning of Joan of Arc.

He tells us that ten thousand men wept, overcome by her meek, saintly demeanor, and most of these were her political enemies bound together by the cords of superstition; that a fanatic English soldier, having vowed to add a fagot to the fuel of her burning, did so and then turned away terror stricken and became a penitent for life and swore he had seen a dove rising to heaven from her ashes.

That the executioner of Joan pleaded forgiveness at every shrine for his part in the tragedy; that the last act of the gentle martyr was to warn the Dominican monk to flee for his life since the torch had been applied and the smoke was rising.

Such was virtue's silent power, a thing suggestive of the quiet dynamics of gravitation which pulls worlds together or drives them apart or holds them steadily in an orbit of trillions of miles.

And Carlyle makes graphic the same virtue in his portrayal of Charlotte Corday, her assassination of Marat and her consequent trial and execution.

She counted Marat a monster and gained audience with him by saying she was from Caen and could tell him of the radicals there. One by one she named the rebels of her own town and Marat wrote down the names with the gentle remark, "Their heads shall fall within a fortnight." Then Charlotte drew her knife and thrust it with one sure stroke to the writer's heart.

At her trial, which dragged along with customary red-tape regularity, she suddenly cried out:

"These details are needless. I killed Marat. His crimes tempted me. I killed one man to save a hundred thousand; a villain to save innocents; a savage wild beast to give repose to my country."

That evening as she sat in the tumbrel and rode to the guillotine all Paris was hushed and one man remarked that she was greater than Brutus and it were beautiful to die with her. And when the executioner removed the scarf from her neck and revealed her naked shoulders to the mob she blushed to the roots of her hair. Down came the keen knife and when the executioner held up the bleeding head the blush was still there.

This girl of 19 was possessed of virtue's silent power. The heroines of France have never been outclassed.

It is the silent power of the nurse or the sister of charity gowned in their modest clothes of mercy and kindliness. It is a protection that takes them unscathed and undaunted through the purlieus of crime.
